Federal Road Work Pushed, Contracts Let

Maryland Listed, W. Va. Gets None In Huge Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contracts for construction on 232 miles of the interstate system of superhighways were awarded during July, the Bureau of Public Roads announced today. The total cost of this work is estimated at 122 million dollars, or about $525,000 a mile.

The vast road building project now underway calls for a 41,000-mile interstate system, linking 90 per cent of all American cities of 5,000 population or more with limited access divided highways.

The Highway Act of 1956 assumed completion of the network in 13-15 years, at a total cost of 27½ billion dollars. Rising prices, however, appear certain to raise the total cost. Highway officials now believe it will take 16 or more years to complete the job.

Bertram D. Tallamy, federal highway administrator, said that as of the end of July, more than 2½ billion dollars had been programmed for the interstate system.

More than one billion dollars in funds previously programmed have now been committed for actual construction work on 1,929 miles of highway work, Tallamy said. Of the $1,037,117,000 total cost, the federal government is paying 90 per cent. The other 10 per cent is paid by the various states.

A state-by-state summary of construction contracts advertised, awarded, or under way but not completed includes (total cost, federal allotment and miles, in that order):

Delaware $600,000; $540,000; 1.600; 21.4.
Tennessee $3,138,000; $2,516,000; 6.7.
Virginia $4,965,000; $3,672,000; 10.0.
West Virginia, none.
District of Columbia $5,678,000; $5,179,000; .2.

Typhoon Perils Southern Japan

TOKYO (INS)—Typhoon Agnes roared toward the Yellow Sea today with 180-mile-an-hour winds as weathermen warned the storm might veer to the east and smash southern Japan.

Tokyo meteorologists said the tropical storm was expected to miss the southwestern tip of Kyushu by 125 miles around midnight today (8 a. m. PDT). But coastal provinces were alerted that Agnes might change course.

Ex-Marine Becomes First Person To Swim Lake Erie

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A 36-year-old ex-Marine, urged on by a few miles from his goal, said today that he had become the first man to swim Lake Erie when he walked out of the water onto the beach at Point Pelee, Ont., Canada, last night.

If it had not been for the urging of the escort in boats nearby, Dr. Harry Briggs Jr., a history professor at the University of Alaska, might not have completed the 32-mile crossing.

Briggs, who fell exhausted on the beach after walking out at Point Pelee, said he had been ready to give up when he was "right on the nose," said Shanley.

Rightwingers Purged

Reds Seize Control Of Army In Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Volatile Syria apparently moved closer to the Communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officials purged rightists from the politically powerful army.

Gen. Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army over the weekend, usually reliable sources said.

Bizry, 43, a known Communist, immediately began to purge right-wing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut.

While Premier Sabri Assali's Moscow-oriented government seemed to have been strengthened, President Shukri Kuwaty's professed neutrality between East and West—already cloudy behind Russian arms deals—became a little more indistinct.

Kuwaty had once threatened to resign rather than let Communist supporters take complete control of the army. But the weekend's virtual coup d'etat by leftists came with formal approval of the sick President.

Kuwaty signed a presidential decree Saturday jumping Bizry from lieutenant colonel to general and making him army commander in chief and chief of staff, an official announcement said.

Then, amid rumors that Kuwaty had resigned—which Assali denied—the President flew to Egypt yesterday. In Cairo for the third time in six months, he talked with Egyptian President Nasser for more than an hour.

The Syrian and Egyptian armies are united under the joint command of an Egyptian officer and both are heavily stocked with Soviet arms. But Nasser has kept his own Communists suppressed.

Purpose of Kuwaty's trip was officially announced as a medical checkup in Alexandria. He flew to Alexandria after seeing Nasser and went to a hospital.

Umbrella Maker Declares Autos Ruined Business

CINCINNATI (AP)—A New Jersey umbrella maker says the automobile is folding up the umbrella business.

Irving Hollander, president of F. Hollander & Son, Inc., told a reporter yesterday that American males now consider a car their umbrella.

"Whoever thinks about taking a walk nowadays? They jump in the car and go for a ride," Hollander said.

Democrats Ask Rights Bill Freed

Northern Solons Plan Petition To Take Up Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Northern Democrats moved today to pry the civil rights bill out of the House Rules Committee. But Republicans held aloof in hopes of getting a measure closer to President Eisenhower's program.

Four Democrats on the 12-member rules group planned to present a formal written demand for a meeting of the committee to take up the bill.

Need Some GO? Help

With four of the committeemen being Southern Democrats bitterly opposed to civil rights legislation, the Northern Democrats needed the help of at least three of the four GOP members of the committee to force the bill to the House floor for action.

But for the moment at least, the Republicans were reported withholding support.

GOP strategy reportedly was to utilize the Republican balance of power on the committee to seek concessions from the Northern Democrats who want the House to accept the Senate civil rights bill with a jury trial amendment narrowed to voting rights cases.

The House originally passed a bill that conferred generally to Eisenhower administration proposals. It would give the attorney general authority to seek federal court injunctions against violations of civil rights in general. Persons violating such injunctions could be jailed by a judge for contempt and there would be no jury trial.

Solons Cut Authority

The Senate stripped from the bill the general civil rights authority and limited the injunction provision to voting rights cases. Then it wrote in a requirement that jury trials must be granted in most criminal contempt cases. This requirement would apply not only to voting rights cases but to a wide range of cases having nothing to do with civil rights.

The Eisenhower administration is strongly opposed to this jury trial provision in criminal contempt cases, claiming it would hinder judges in enforcement of their orders and hamper federal regulatory agencies.

Tunnel Blast Beneath Lake Fatal To Four

OSWEGO, N. Y. (AP)—An explosion tore through a tunnel cut in rock 100 feet below Lake Ontario and killed three construction workers yesterday. The blast turned the 6,250-foot tunnel into a gas-filled death trap that claimed another worker's life today.

The fourth man was overcome as he worked with a crew trying to bring out the bodies of the three blast victims early this morning.

The three killed were John Lagoe, 40, an electrician, Oswego; Phil Aylor, 36, Harrisonburg, Va., the tunnel foreman; and Linwood Hieston, 47, Elkton, Va., construction superintendent.

Further efforts at retrieving the three bodies were called off until ventilating equipment could be installed.

Lloyd Matteson, 32, of nearby Scriba, one of the approximately 100 workers who labored at the scene, ran out of oxygen about 1,500 feet inside the gas-filled tunnel. Fellow workers said he started running back toward the entrance, apparently became panicked and tore off his oxygen mask. Then he collapsed.

An Army doctor said Matteson apparently was dead when other men brought him out.

Two Coast Guardsmen working with the rescue crews found the bodies of the three construction workers last night, eight hours after the explosion.

Hoffa Faces Racket Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Einar O. Mohn, executive vice president of the Teamsters Union, was called for questioning today about testimony that he issued charters for phony locals in New York in a power play engineered by James R. Hoffa.

Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters and heir apparent to Dave Beck as president of the giant union, also is slated to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee tomorrow, or possibly later today.

The committee neared the end of its probe into charges that Hoffa teamed with racketeer Johnny Dio and other New York mobsters in an effort to extend his sway into the New York area.

Three Drown At Outing On Maine Beach

PHIPPSBURG, Maine (AP)—A gay family beach outing turned into tragedy yesterday when three brothers, the oldest 11, drowned just as they were about to return to their Litchfield home.

The bodies of John, 11, Erwin, 10, and Edwin, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thibodeau, were recovered from the waters at the mouth of Morse River near Popham Beach.

The youngsters were sucked under by a strong current while wading to a sandbar as their mother and the oldest brother, Merle, about 20, loaded the family truck for the trip home.

A fourth brother, Arlington, 13, was wading with the three when the youngsters, reached shore safely. He was treated for shock. Arlington was the only one of the four who could swim.

The trio drowned near the place where Air Force Staff Sgt. Bernard M. Wascoe, 22, Allentown, Pa., was caught by strong tidal currents and drowned last Friday.

Solon Proposes Draft Age Hike, Cites Huge Pool

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) said today he will ask Congress to raise the present minimum draft induction age from 18½ years to 20 and lower the maximum age from 26 to 25 years.

"We have such a large manpower pool now that we are making an unwarranted period of liability on the civilian population," Case said in an interview. He is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Case said his proposals will be offered as an amendment to a House-passed bill.

Police Seize Bank Robber In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—Charles A. Wilson, 24-year-old escaped bank robber, was recaptured early today sitting quietly on a house step in East Baltimore, police reported.

The prisoner refused to admit his identity. But police said he is Wilson after checking pictures and fingerprints.

Wilson wriggled through an opening 6½ inches wide 10 days ago to get out of the Maryland penitentiary. He was serving a 20-year sentence for his part in the $30,490 holdup of a Canton, Mass. branch of the Provident Savings Bank in 1954.

Five policemen with drawn revolvers, answering an anonymous telephone tip, closed in on a man answering Wilson's description. "I wish you had shot me instead of taking me," he said. Thereafter he kept quiet, turning his back in a cell to police officers questioning him.

An excited man called Eastern District police this morning and said Wilson had threatened to "get" him. The caller mentioned the home of Wilson's mother, 400 South Broadway.

Police scoured the area without success. They fanned out and spotted a man fitting Wilson's description of 5-foot-2-inches tall and 120 pounds sitting on a porch several blocks away (1900 block East Baltimore St.).

Rain General In East Area

By The Associated Press

Showery weather was the outlook for most sections of the nation today except in the mid-continent and most of the Pacific Coast.

The rain which extended from the southern Rockies eastward through the Gulf and middle Atlantic states yesterday diminished during the night except in the middle Atlantic region. Rainfall measured nearly an inch in Montgomery, Ala., and Raleigh, N.C. His remarks were in reply to questions about testimony of counter-

Husband Of British Actress Plans To Sue 'Confidential'

LONDON (AP)—Dennis Hamilton, 32, husband of British actress Diana Dors, said today he was bringing a million-dollar suit for an article on him appearing in the American magazine Confidential. Hamilton said, "I've cabled my lawyers in America instructing them to sue Michael Mordaunt-Smith and Robert Harrison for a million dollars for the damage done to me by the article."

Mordaunt-Smith, an Englishman is a European agent for the magazine published by Harrison. Mordaunt-Smith is now in Los Angeles ready to testify in the Confidential criminal libel trial.

Hamilton, a former boxer who is now separated from his actress wife, said the article on him was headlined: "What Diana Dors Never Knew About Her Ever-Loving Hubby."

Hamilton said, "There is a story involving me with an anonymous film star. They allege that I made love to the lady in a house I used to own in Chelsea."

Eisenhower Aides Blast House Slash

Mundt Proposes Economic Loans To Allies Repaid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told senators today that "the whole foundation of our security structure is endangered" by the House cut of $809,650,000 in the foreign aid appropriations bill.

If Congress is unwilling to provide the funds to help allies maintain their defenses, Dulles said, "we face a new insecurity and a future of grave risks."

"The Senate faces a great responsibility to save the nation from this peril."

Ask Upward Revision

Dulles headed a team of four top administration figures bidding at a meeting of the Senate Appropriations Committee for upward revision of the House-passed bill.

Accompanying him to the session were John B. Hollister, outgoing foreign aid director; Adm. Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Radford's successor.

Before the session began, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) told newsmen he would try to put Congress on record as favoring a requirement that nations receiving economic loans must make some annual repayment.

Mundt said he has drafted a proposal to require annual repayments on any loans made from a two-year economic development fund Congress has authorized.

"I think we should establish the principle that these loans are going to be repaid," Mundt said. "I am not particular how much money is paid back annually and I am perfectly willing to agree to some emergency exceptions."

"But it will be better for us and the recipient countries if they agree to understand from the beginning that they must meet the annual interest payments and at least make a token payment on the principal."

"I don't think we should permit a situation to arise where a country that has received a loan can go along for three or four years without paying on either interest and principal and then ask that both be canceled. That sort of thing is bad psychology from both their standpoint and our own."

Congress has authorized a 500-million-dollar outlay for the fund in the first year and 625 millions in the second year. The development fund was proposed by Dulles as a sort of "new look" for overseas economic aid. The House cut the first-year money allotment for this fund to 300 millions.

The money would be loaned underdeveloped countries for economic projects. The general understanding has been that the United States would regard these in the category of soft loans on which repayments would be slow in coming.

Cardinal Cites No Spy Needed, He's Reds' Foe

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman says the Russians "do not need to put any spies" in his office to find out he is an enemy of communism.

Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, made the statement at Idlewild Airport yesterday before leaving on a plane for Rome, Italy, and Raleigh, N.C. His remarks were in reply to questions about testimony of counter-espionage spy Boris Morros. Morros had chided to the Atlantic Coast and said the Russians had asked him from the Ohio Valley southward to plant a secretary in the cardinal's office.

Hamilton, a former boxer who is now separated from his actress wife, said the article on him was headlined: "What Diana Dors Never Knew About Her Ever-Loving Hubby."

Hamilton said, "There is a story involving me with an anonymous film star. They allege that I made love to the lady in a house I used to own in Chelsea."

"...This was supposed to be two years ago—long before I split up with Diana."

Hamilton described the story as "absolute nonsense."

Sarah Churchill's Mate Takes Life With Pills

LONDON (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills took the life yesterday of Anthony Beauchamp, husband of Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter Sarah, police said.

The 39-year-old society photographer and television producer apparently died alone in his apartment overlooking Hyde Park. He had not been seen lately with Sarah, who is four years his senior.

Police were sent to Beauchamp's apartment by a pre-dawn telephone call from Davina West, who said Beauchamp had just called her at her home in London's fashionable Chelsea section. "I pleaded with Anthony," she told police. "I tried to persuade him not to be foolish. I was frantic. While I talked, suddenly the line seemed to go dead."

'Clean' Bomb Hinted After AEC Error

WASHINGTON (INS)—Testimony before the House Appropriations Committee disclosed that the Atomic Energy Commission requested $200,000 to pay Procter and Gamble Soap Co. for "expanded weapons production."

The AEC said it made a "mistake pure and simple" and "corrections are being made" but did not explain how such a situation came about.

A congressional wag, told that the soap company was listed as a producer of atomic weapons, speculated: "Maybe they were supposed to produce a 'clean' bomb."

Three Hurt In Delaware Auto Crash

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—Three persons, one apparently with a foreign diplomatic corps in Washington, were injured last night in a collision on Delaware 16.

State police said Col. Mario Maticotta, 45, of 1930 Columbia Road, N. W., Washington, driver of one of the cars involved, had a diplomatic tag on his license plate, but they were not sure to what embassy he was attached.

Col. Maticotta suffered cuts of the knee and elbow and was in good condition in Milford Memorial Hospital. The other injured were identified as:

Miss Yvonne Stiver, about 44, of 4635 48th Street, N.W., Washington, passenger in Maticotta's car. She suffered possible chest and shoulder injuries, cuts of the left eye, elbow and hand, and was in fair condition.

Charles Hawk, 16, of RD2, Greenwood, driver of the other car, bruises, broken teeth, possible chest injury, condition fair.

The accident happened four miles northwest of Greenwood here in Sussex County. State Police said Hawk was swerving back and forth across the road when his car ran into the left-hand lane and struck Maticotta's head-on.

Actress Refutes Article In Confidential Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The month in which a trial witness says Maureen O'Hara and a Latin lover cuddled at a Hollywood theater loomed today as a major battle point in the libel trial of Confidential magazine. The red-haired actress, who previously denied the story, issued a statement Saturday saying she was not even in the United States at the time the witness said it happened—November 1953.

Her attorney Guy E. Ward said that as a result of the testimony Miss O'Hara will raise the damages sought in her own libel action against the magazine from one million to five million dollars.

The magazine's criminal libel trial resumes today in Superior Court.

James Craig, now an independent movie producer in London, testified Friday for the defense. He said that while he was assistant manager of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood in November 1953, he ordered Miss O'Hara and the unidentified Latin out of the theater after twice finding them in amorous embraces.

The star said in a statement issued by her attorney Saturday that she has passport records and corroborating evidence from other witnesses to prove she left the United States for Spain Oct. 6, 1953, to make a movie. She said she did not return until Jan. 11, 1954.

The defense is fighting the libel charge by trying to prove the truth of the stories Confidential printed about celebrities. The magazine ran the O'Hara story in the March 1957 issue under the title, "It Was the Hottest Show in Town When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35."

Meanwhile, police investigated the death of a woman of whom Clarence A. Linn, deputy state attorney general associated in the prosecution, said: "I understand she was an employee of Confidential magazine—how recently, I don't know. What she did, whether she gave the magazine stories,

Poison Covered Dagger Stolen, Warning Issued

NEW YORK (AP)—A poison-covered oriental dagger that might bring a quick and painful death with a single cut has been stolen from the apartment of an Indonesian consular official.

Police issued this warning: "Don't take that kris out of the scabbard. The blade is poisoned. Just touching it to any open wound could be fatal."

The seventh century dagger, with an ivory handle and gold-covered teakwood scabbard, valued at $3,000, was stolen Saturday night from the Riverdale apartment of Koesmartono Pratowadikoesomo. He is deputy chief of the supply mission attached to the Indonesian consular general's office.

Eisenhower

The administration apparently faced an uphill pull in efforts to get the Senate to restore the full amount the House slashed below the authorized ceiling of $3,367,000,000 in new money.

Administration leaders hoped to enlist the aid of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Johnson, who might have the key vote on the aid issue in the Appropriations Committee, has said he is going to support what he regards as an adequate aid program even if that means he will be going against a majority of his colleagues and the majority sentiment in Texas. He named no figure.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said he felt the House cut was too deep but that he does not believe it will be possible to restore the entire amount. Knowland, a member of the appropriations group, said he hopes for an aid fund of about three billion dollars.

U. S. Refuses Drought Aid To Delaware

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House today informed Gov. J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware that drought conditions in his state, while distressing, are not of sufficient severity and magnitude to warrant a declaration of major disaster. Such a designation entitles an affected region to receive federal aid.

This was the sixth state the White House has turned down after governors have requested the type of assistance provided for under a major disaster classification. The other states were Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maryland and New Jersey.

Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, told Boggs by telegram that surveys of Delaware's drought areas by the Department of Agriculture and Civil Defense Administration showed conditions do not warrant a major disaster declaration at this time.

Adams added, however, that the President has directed the two agencies to "maintain close scrutiny" over the situation in Delaware and to report back to him if it worsens.

Meanwhile, Adams said, federal aid can be had through other channels.

Timonium's Track Gets New Stands

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Officials of the Maryland State Fair and Agricultural Society, Inc., have announced plans for construction of a new grandstand at Timonium race track.

John H. Zink, president of the society, announced last night that the all-steel grandstand would be built at a cost of $1,200,000. The old stands will be razed by fire sometime next month.

Seats for 4,000 will be provided in the grandstand with accommodations in the bleachers and infield benches for 4,000 others, Zink said. The present grandstands 2,000.

Other modernization to be done at the half-mile track includes widening the concourse between the track and grandstand to 58 feet.

The 56-year-old unemployed laborer was released from a one-month term for refusing to pay for a meal he ate at a restaurant.

Kaai walked straight to the Star Cafe and ordered freely from the menu. When the bill arrived, he announced he had no money.

The proprietor offered to accept his hat for security while he went to get some money. Kaai firmly declined, and added he wouldn't move until the proprietor called for a police officer. Kaai drew 60 days.

Stopping Of Train Will Get Man "Job"

WILLIAMSTOWN, Ky. (AP)—George Crawford, 45, wanted to hop a train and wasn't particular about the direction.

Before depot employees arrived for work, Crawford pulled stop signals for trains going north and south.

Soon a fast passenger train screamed to an unscheduled stop, but Crawford didn't have time to climb aboard. He was arrested by a railroad detective.

"Guess I'll go back to my old job now," sighed Crawford. He'd been released a few months ago from prison, where he worked in the laundry.

Medicine Seen Breaking Age Barrier Of Man

ANN ARBOR (INS)—Growing old is part of living.

R. J. Blakely, vice-president of the Fund for Adult Education, predicts "medicine will break the age barrier and we may find ourselves living to be 150 years old."

He told the University of Michigan's 10th anniversary conference on aging that retirement is normal in our society, but most people have "no personal philosophy for old age," and he added, "our society has no role for them."

The conference tackled the problem of what retired persons could do with their leisure time.

Dr. John Anderson of the University of Minnesota argues that people think of leisure as opposed to work but once work is removed leisure loses interest because it has no real function.

The conference suggested that persons develop a positive attitude toward leisure and occupy themselves with types of activities that offer the individual a chance to be personally involved in work and making decisions.

A U. S. Public Health Service sociologist said people could condition themselves for old age by making new friends outside the family during middle age. This way they will be better able to withstand personal losses in their family later in life.

Two Solons Join Pleas To Cut Bridge Toll

SALISBURY (AP)—If State Sen. Louis D. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) wants some help in lowering Chesapeake Bay Bridge tolls, he need look no further than State Sen. Mary L. Nock (D-Wicomico).

Phipps said last Wednesday he planned to pow-wow with other legislators and civic leaders with in the next two weeks, to talk about some way of getting the bridge tolls lowered.

Over the weekend, Sen. Nock put her ear in. The arguments of Sens. Phipps and Nock had many points in common, including:

1. There must be action soon before tolls are set for the new Baltimore Harbor Tunnel, because the state's toll facilities are paid out of a common kitty.

2. Revenue from the Bay Bridge is running far ahead of estimates.

3. It isn't right to — as Phipps put it — "charge three times less for a project that cost three times more."

The bridge toll now is $1.40 per passenger car and driver, plus 25 cents for each passenger over 6. It costs 44 million dollars to build. The Baltimore Harbor Tunnel, which has a target date of Dec. 1 for opening to traffic, cost about 130 million dollars. Sens.

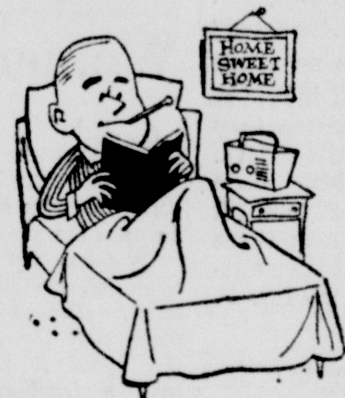

Phipps and Nock said the proposed toll is 35 cents.

Eastern Shore state senators proposed a study of the situation at this year's session of the Maryland General Assembly. That study is now under way by the engineering firm of Coverdale and Colpitts.

The State Roads Commission has not said what it plans to do about the bridge tolls. A final decision on adjustment is up to the bondholders.

Red Party Law Doesn't Outlaw Anything

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today is the third anniversary of a law which the government has treated like poison ivy. It's stayed away from it almost completely.

This law was passed at a time when Democrats and Republicans in Congress were trying to outdo each other in their anti-Communist fervor just before going home to face the voters in the 1954 elections.

This week a government lawyer, looking at a copy of the 1954 act on his desk, said: "From the way this law was put together, I think members of Congress must have written it on the back of match-boxes."

Congress started out that year with talk of outlawing the Communist party by making membership in it a crime. Realizing this might not stand up in court, the lawmakers wound up weaseling with a statement which merely said: "Therefore, the Communist party should be outlawed."

It sounded big but didn't mean anything because it didn't do any outlawing.

This act of three years ago did attempt to say the party should be denied the "rights, privileges and immunities" enjoyed by legal organizations. In three years what rights, privileges and immunities has the party lost?

None, so far as this writer could find. For example: it was thought in 1954 the party might, under the new law, be denied the use of the mails for its newspaper, the Daily Worker.

But the Post Office has taken no action of any kind against the party. Nor could this writer find any other government agency which had taken action under the 1954 act with the exception—explained later—of the Justice Department.

And there's a reason: If the government used the 1954 act against the party it might get so tangled up with what it is trying to do to the party under a previous act, passed in 1950, that all its long efforts under the 1950 law might be wrecked.

In 1950 Congress passed the Communist Control Act, which called for forcing the party to register as a Russian agent and reveal its membership. In addition, the law imposed a whole series of prohibitions and penalties on party members.

Before any of those things could happen, these steps would have to be taken:

The government would have to charge the party—before the Subversive Activities Control Board—with being a Russian agent. (The government did.)

The SACB would have to hold hearings to let the party answer the charges. (The board did and the hearings lasted months.) Then the board would have to rule the party was truly a Moscow tool. (It did.)

Payment Disallowed
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Tax collecting is serious business. Sidney Ruch, city director of finance, says water and gas bills come in the same category. He refused the payment he received on a $54.55 bill—all in play money.

Swifts—fastest moving of all birds—do their courting in mid-air.

Still nothing could happen until the party sought through appeals to the courts to get the ruling declared invalid and the act itself ruled unconstitutional. (The party carried its fight to the courts.)

This whole chain of events began seven years ago, shortly after the 1950 act was passed. The case has now been in the courts for years, and it may take more years before there is a final decision from the Supreme Court.

But if now, while the test of the 1950 act is pending, the government began doing some of the other things to the party called for by the 1954 act, the Communists might, and no doubt would do this:

They might try, by legal arguments about persecution, to get the courts to throw out all the government has been trying to do under the 1950 law.

The 1954 act in large part makes additions, or amendments, to the 1950 act. The government has thought it safe to use only one of them, one which lets it move a g a i n s t Communist-infiltrated unions.

The government has started action—also before the SACB—against two unions: the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America; and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

But—even there the government is in knots. Before anything comes of its case against the two unions, the courts will have to uphold what the SACB has already done under the 1950 act.

If the courts finally knock out the 1950 act, the SACB itself will be knocked out and anything it ruled now about the two unions mentioned above wouldn't count anyway.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

No Apology Needed

THE OTHER DAY an official of New York City's Youth Board decried what he described as public hysteria over a recent flare-up of youthful crimes in the country's biggest city. He said the incidents were "isolated" in the sense that they bore no direct relation to one another, and indicated thereby that he did not believe they constituted evidence of a crime wave. He admitted the public should be made to grasp the seriousness of youthful criminal offenses — killings in these instances — but still felt that the newspapers had carried matters too far.

POLICE OFFICIALS in the city then reinforced this view by arguing that things were better than they had been a year ago, three years ago, and more than a decade back. Whatever may be the truth about this particular series of crimes, there is nothing "isolated" about the statistics which show the almost uninterrupted growth — percentage-wise — of youthful crime in the United States. To suggest that things are markedly better and that the newest New York outburst is an unfortunate departure from an improving trend is to cast a distorted light on the crime situation among the nation's youth. Nobody wants hysteria in dealing with this problem, and actually there has not been any real sign of it in New York or elsewhere. Most of the time there has been too much of the opposite commodity — public lethargy.

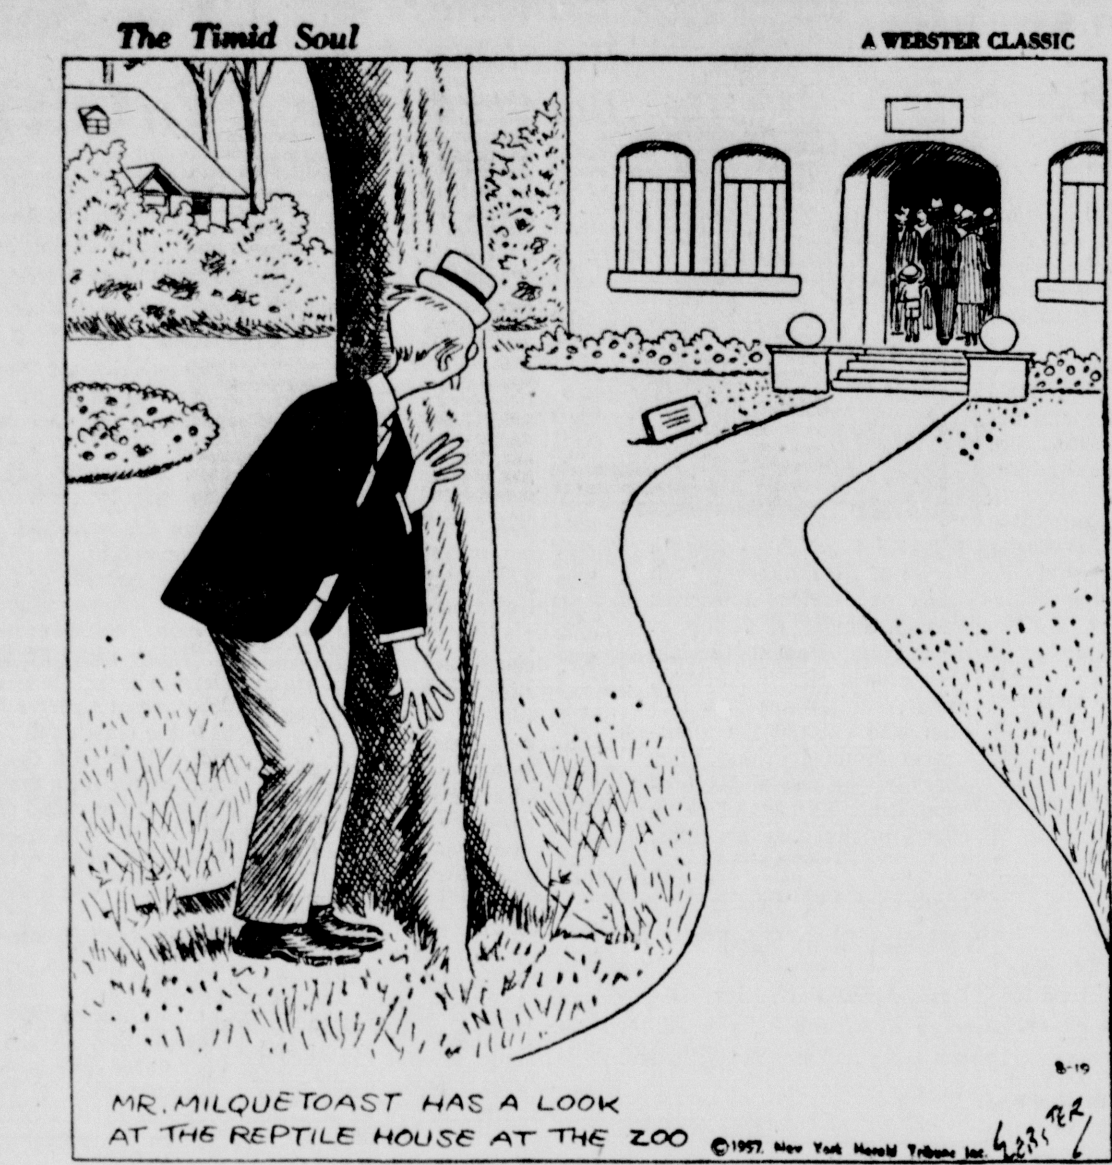

A GOOD MANY scientists seem to feel that what the American people need to demonstrate is a greater capacity for indignation than they customarily show. The crime problem has many sides. It is deep laid. It will not solve itself. And it will not be solved unless enough people get stirred up about it. Neither the press nor anybody else ought to have to apologize these days for proposing that something positive and comprehensive and lastingly effective be done about juvenile crime in New York and every other corner of this land.

Preparedness

WE IN THE UNITED States do not know yet whether this country is going to be plagued with an epidemic of so-called Asiatic influenza. But health authorities believe there is a strong probability of it. In consequence of that threat, Americans generally can have only the highest praise for the way in which health specialists are preparing for any emergency. By mid-September they expect to have some eight million doses of vaccine available. Half will go to the armed forces, the rest to essential workers in transportation, communications and similar important fields. The goal is 60 million vaccine doses by February, which would make possible inoculation of virtually all children and most of the aged — the groups aside from essential workers whose protection is considered most vital. To achieve this, the health people have had a dozen drug manufacturers working triple shifts seven days a week. The disease apparently is basically mild, though secondary infections can complicate matters. The real problem seems to be the speed with which an epidemic can spread. Authorities said a city of one million could find 200,000 people laid low within a few days. It is this that they are moving with such remarkable dispatch to prevent.

Curiosity

BECAUSE OF THAT old saying about what happened to the cat, curiosity has been greatly maligned. Yet curiosity has done more for man than almost any other quality he possesses. Necessity may be the mother of invention, but curiosity is the mother of knowledge. This almost universal human characteristic ranges from the petty to the magnificent. It impels people to wonder what their neighbors had for dinner last night, and others to wonder about the majestic wheeling of the stars. Curiosity did kill the cat; there is no doubt of it. It also has killed many a human being. But it is curiosity, too, that has spurred men on to find out all they know about themselves and the vast universe about

Women And Money Lead To Domestic Sin

NEW YORK — The oldest licensed private investigator in New York state has been trailing errant spouses for 49 years, and he says the sordid truth is this: "Women are very tricky, schemin', connivin', jealous creatures. I'm not saying they're responsible for all the divorces. But about 75 percent, give or take a fraction depending on which year."

The senior private eye is, by name, S. Alexander. "which is why I collect antiques on the side. Gives me a feeling of solidity after a day of seeing all that goes on. Now you ask me questions and I'll try to answer them."

Under an onslaught of queries, then, Mr. Cohen revealed the following opinions. "Wives all through this century have become not only very, very jealous but very, very interested in having money. Now this may have been true in other centuries too, I wouldn't know. "At least 75 percent of my jobs are from men who find some reason to suspect their wife is not being too up-and-up with 'em. I always ask why do they think such a thing, and they always have some reason—like they happened to see a diamond wrist-watch in their wife's purse, or all of a sudden she's dressing better and fixing her hair."

YOU MIGHT suspect that such a woman was merely in the middle of a personal-improvement plan—but not the women S. Alexander and his operatives have "shadowed" at $25 a day, plus extraordinary expenses. "I say," says Cohen, "that when you look for trouble, you find trouble."

"Only about five percent of these cases turn out to be a hallucination on the part of the husband."

Of course, S. Alexander is not saying that "men are any big angels." But men, he feels, are not as greedy as girls. "There isn't a man living, bar none, who isn't able to be tempted by another woman than his wife," he says, "but when they cheat they're more honest about it."

A WIFE CAN usually ask her husband what's going on, and get something of a respectable answer. A husband who asks gets evasions, and has to employ S. Alex.

"There is one thing I am definitely against," says the investigator. "That is a man letting his wife work. The minute a woman starts working, she makes money and the more money she has, the more she wants. She starts going to bars, and seeing men she thinks might offer her more than her husband does."

"Whenever there is a working wife to be investigated, we never bother to follow her at night—knowing we'd get nothin'. It's in the afternoon that you've got to watch her. These days, and forever and evermore, there will be more love in the afternoon than any other time. . .

"WHICH REMINDS me, I was technical adviser for this movie, 'Love In The Afternoon,' so will you please put that in? It's a wonderful movie. Women shouldn't wear any girdles when they see it, 'cause they'll laugh themselves sick."

Asked what is the root of all domestic sin, Mr. Cohen pondered long; finally decided, "Women and money—it's hard to split up the two."

Visit Of Queen Brings Many Problems

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The visit of England's Queen Elizabeth II here in mid-October is going to be a nice, mutually beneficial affair.

What with Lord Altrincham's criticisms of the Queen's speech-making and her royal household, it's time for her to duck out of London for a while. When she gets back all will probably be forgotten. Undoubtedly her sister Margaret will be dating some new eligible blue-blood and occupying the news spotlight.

From our town's point of view it has been a hot, dry, drab summer and we need something like the Queen's visit to perk up our jaded party-going. There has been a parade of some high-ranking foreign brass through here the past year. But there's nothing that quite touches an official visit from Her Majesty.

HER VISITS — she has been here before— are clean-cut fun, compared to those of so many official foreign callers. She won't be asking for a loan, guided missiles, atomic sub secrets or the commitments of U. S. troops to some remote place on the globe.

This'll be a relief to Ike, her host, too. When some foreign potentate mixes calling with favor-seeking the President has to have endless briefings to make sure he doesn't promise the wrong thing. Then there's always that uncomfortable meeting when the visitor makes his pitch and Ike has to say no, or offer something less.

THE QUEEN'S visits also always produce some juicy protocol problem which keeps the town talking for weeks. Remember those wonderful debates over whether women should curtsy when presented to the Queen, remove their gloves when shaking hands?

This visit has a pretty good protocol problem cooking already. And there will probably be a couple more before she arrives. British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia finds himself in the center of this one.

He's the Queen's personal representative in Washington and he should naturally be at her side during the whole visit.

His trouble is that seven other ambassadors from the 11 British Commonwealth countries were assigned to Washington before him. That makes him eighth in seniority.

The 11 Commonwealth envoys will be in on every function from the Queen's reception at the airport to her attendance at a Maryland University football game. The problem is how to spot them in receiving lines and at dinners. Sir Harold should be at the Queen's side. But his seniority rules this out.

FOR EXAMPLE, if the seniority rule is strictly observed at the formal White House dinner for the Queen and her husband, Sir Harold will be seated so far from the royal pair he'll have to use a public address system to make conversation with them.

Sir Percy Spender, the Australian ambassador, has top seniority among the eleven. He'd probably swap places with Sir Harold. But the other six ambassadors don't want to go along with this. They can't be shoved around arbitrarily.

This may not strike everyone as a very serious matter, but it has State Department protocol expert Victor Purse in a lather. He's the gent who got King Saud in and out of town, through a fantastic set of protocol problems, without offending the King. And Vic rates this one as tough as any in connection with Saud's visit.

Since the last visit of the royal couple, the Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, has been made a prince.

BEFORE this was done the Duke always walked three paces behind his wife. The new rank permits him to follow a little closer, but not quite at her side.

The curtsy thing is settled. American women don't have to curtsy to the Queen here. Everyone agrees this is O. K. But there are always some U. S. Ladies, who like to give it the full treatment when greeting the Queen, which is rather dangerous.

In England they're used to all this curtsy stuff. Here they're rusty at it and there's always the danger of tipping over in the middle of one. This happened three times during the Queen's last visit. It was a little embarrassing but the Queen didn't bat an eye.

VALLE DE BRAVO, Mex. — It took us 27 minutes of hard walking up the mountain and across a ravine to reach the little ranch. A car would have been useless, a horse almost useless. This was walking country.

We came up level with the little clearing and saw a tiny, immaculate house. The front yard had been branch-dragged for hours to give it a perfect sweep and leveling. A small stream of smoke wormed up out of the chimney and a dog, sleeping half in the shade and half in the sun, beat his tail fitfully on the packed earth.

We were expected and we walked in as we knocked at the frame of the open door. Inside it was cool and dim. A tiny fire burned brightly on the hearth, half-ringed by rich-red earthen pots.

SHE WAS NEAR a corner, on a mound of carefully and precisely folded hand-woven blankets. Gold gleamed on the lobe of each ear, and a necklace of it, barbaric and audacious in design, hung from her neck. Four rings were scattered across her fingers.

The hands were dark and smooth, something notable since they had been her hands for 120 authenticated years. The skin lay lightly on the top of them, uncrinkled and unmottled.

As soon as possible, without making an occasion of it, I studied her neck. It was like a girl's. There was no sagging of skin or deep folds. Her face was different. It was like a carving, but her eyes had pure light in them, a clean light without any signs of dulling or curtains of dimness. They had fire in them and the lenses were clear.

SHE LOOKED up and smiled. The smile was good and it showed her teeth, not all of them, but those which remained were white and unblemished. She patted an area of blanket and we sat down together. A clay pitcher of honey juice was passed.

Frederick Othman

Hood In Pale Green Undies

WASHINGTON—Up before the Senate rackets investigators was Tony (Ducks) Coralla, who allegedly shook down New York workers for dues to phony unions and ordered their heads bashed if they didn't pay.

The portly Ducks, in his black suit and his heavy eyeglasses, wouldn't talk for fear of incriminating himself as he mumbled time and again the Fifth Amendment phrase written down for him by his lawyer. This was monotonous, and I got to thinking about another gangster of another era, name of Scarface Al Capone.

AS A YOUNG reporter in Chicago 30 years ago, I knew Scarface Al, and I'd say now that in comparison to Ducks, Johnny Dio and other modern hoodlums turned up by the Senators, Capone was a great and good man.

He made beer, wholesaled it, and retailed it at 75 cents a bottle. If any other gangster attempted to muscle in on this profitable enterprise, Scarface simply had him shot. His helpers frequently did this chore with a tommy gun they transported in a violin case. The Capone operations were as simple as that.

THE BEAUTY about Capone, now that I look back from my vantage point in the Senate caucus room, was that he never bothered law-abiding citizens, except by mistake. Sometimes they got sprayed accidentally by bullets, but Scarface always was regretful of that. Or at least so he said when he held press conferences in a hotel on South Michigan Boulevard.

The 1937 model gangsters, by contrast, prey on the innocent. They've been forcing businessmen in New York to pay tribute; they've also been extracting weekly dues from thousands of employees who got nothing in return.

Like Ducks, Dio and associates in the union racket, Scarface Al managed for years to stay out of jail until finally the Federal Government nabbed him on an income tax rap. Now Dio has been indicted on Federal tax charges, while T-men are riffling through the returns of his pals. They may go the same way as Capone, and that brings up the latter's trial in Federal Court.

IT WAS THE first really big story I ever covered, and it was a fascinating thing to watch Capone's facade collapse one morning when Prosecutor George E. Q. Johnson got him to identify a haberdasher's bill for some union suits.

"At $20 each," said Johnson. "That seems a little high for union suits, Mr. Capone. What were they made of?"

Capone said in a small voice: Silk.

"What color were they, Mr. Capone?" insisted Johnson.

"Green," replied Capone.

"Dark green, Mr. Capone?" asked the prosecutor. "Or pale?"

CAPONE appealed to the judge. Did he really have to answer that? The judge said he did. "Pale," breathed the terror of Chicago. The spectators, who never before even had smiled at Capone's operations, laughed.

books and in the church books. There is no doubt about it. You'd think, looking at her, that she was perhaps seventy-five. At the most eighty.

The mountain swarms with those who have come into life, grown up and passed life on to others since this small, slender woman bore her first child. From this supple, Indian liveness the earth has increased its population by the dozens. Her own children, then theirs, and then theirs and so on.

"I come in deepest respect," I said. "I feel honored in your presence."

"You took time and walked without help," she said. "I, too, feel honored. There was compulsion on you."

WE TALKED for half an hour. The voice never flagged or seemed tired. She told me of events long ago, and told them with color. Her memory never was detectably faulty. But half an hour is a long time for one who has lived 120 years. I didn't want to tax her.

"They tell me, mamacita," I said, "that much wisdom has come to you."

"Information, yes. Knowledge of some people. The things we all learn as the years travel," she said. "Not wisdom. Wisdom belongs to God."

I thought about it all the way down the mountain. It made great sense and was stunning in its simplicity.

SHE HAD NOT once claimed to have a secret formula for longevity, nor had she ever once laid down any laws and dictates. She simply sat on her beautiful blankets and spoke earnestly of the years as she had seen them, life as she had lived it.

She offered no advice to the young or the old or to people of any colors. She was a simple person, so simple that it came to mean grandeur of character. She had lived long enough to recognize eternal truths.

Her good-bye was the cap piece.

Capone flushed until his scar stood out like a pale streak, and I doubt if anyone ever again was afraid of Scarface Al.

I DON'T KNOW the color of the underwear worn by the procession of prosperous racketeers appearing to take the Fifth Amendment before the Senators, but I'm inclined to make an educated guess. Their underwear, is downright magnificent, in a Madison Avenue kind of way.

It runs to handsomely tailored suits in dark fabrics, monogrammed shirts, sincere cravats, and gold cufflinks, with and without rubies. Most of these under-world bigwigs wear black-rimmed eyeglasses, and those who don't come by their swarthiness naturally, seem to have achieved it under sunlamps.

Now if we only had another Johnson to strip them down to their shorts, those New Yorkers who have testified to being terrorized might feel a little less edgy. It has been a long time since they have dared to laugh.

Dangers

CONTINUOUS rise in the cost of living index cannot be taken lightly. Rising prices and rising costs of production, unless checked, can force cutbacks and restriction of production, with another consequent rise in prices.

Production and consumption can get seriously out of line. This process is part of the central logic or pattern which leads to depression.

Increased productive capacity, as a consequence of automation as well as other causes, has begun to threaten jobs in manufacturing. There is not likely to be any increase in the number of jobs open in manufacturing plants, and there are signs of stabilization and decline.

We can ignore signs of this character only if we wish to court potential disaster. The question here is not optimism versus pessimism. It is, rather, a question of keeping in good running order an economic mechanism which, because of its complexity and inter-relatedness, is highly delicate. Our own future and that of the free world is at stake. Now is the time for serious and dispassionate thought.

We cannot assert that we are beyond all dangers of another depression. All of the signs of our present economic situation do not point clearly to a continuing upward course. Clarity of thought and sensible effort, not alarm, are now called for. We dare not fall asleep at the American economic switch in the year 1957.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — Many people who believe in the old philosophy about here today and gone tomorrow sometimes wonder whether Monday is the day to be here. They are prisoners of the wrong kind of thinking.

Any day is a good day to be in this world, and Monday, if a man approaches it with the right attitude, is as good a day as any other to appreciate life — if that's the kind of a thing a fellow enjoys, as most people do.

The trouble with Monday is that it is the least welcome day of the week for hereditary reasons. Everybody inherits Monday. It runs in every family.

If you check every family all the way back, remorselessly, you will find that somewhere amid the shy bones of the skeleton in the closet is a hidden Monday.

TOO MANY PEOPLE think of Monday as a limp hello to tomorrow that follows a livid weekend. They would break the back of the surly camel by trying to make him tote the straw reminders of yesterday's hay, reaped in the weekend sunshine.

This is the wrong attitude. Monday, approached moderately and with a constructive attitude, is not so much the dismal morning twilight of an epic essay into living, as is a bugle call of adventure.

Yes, that is the way to regard Monday — as the bright doorway to another good clean week of opportunity.

It is the golden portal to tomorrow, which, I accept the calendar's promise, is good old glamorous Tuesday. And after Tuesday comes mellow Wednesday, Thursday with a hint of harvest, and again another Friday, serene as always but not without its admirers.

So the week wears, glistening as it goes, brightening as it ages.

WHEN YOU GET right down to the problem of facing Monday and every man has to, one sees it not so much as a day to endure as a stepping stone toward finer living.

Good old Monday, the solid get-your-feet-back-on-the-ground day, the day man forsakes the pursuit of the wilderness of pleasure and resumes the pursuit of the wilderness of duty.

No matter how poverty-ridden a man may be in terms of piled up cash or the currency of the spirit, he has a wealth of Mondays in his life.

There are very few hoarders of Monday, and those who do deserve their collections.

But every now and then a man gets to thinking about his obligations in this world, not only to himself, but to posterity.

A guy can't take it with him. So... What better gift can a man make to posterity than mortal Monday morning? What else would he rather leave behind him?

WASHINGTON — A bespectacled grey-haired man in his early sixties took a seat at the long baize conference table in the Senate Agriculture Committee chambers and stated with vast dignity that he knew his onions. He declared he was opposed to future trading in the aromatic delicacy.

The witness, Austin Anson, executive manager of the Harlingen, Texas, Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association, looked as solemn as if he had never allowed himself a frivolous thought. He declared that trading in onion futures should be outlawed, the same as other forms of gambling.

Senator Hubert Humphrey, of Minnesota, who was presiding, told the somber witness that proponents of onion futures had testified they were a good risk.

"Do you believe this?" asked Senator Humphrey. "Would you feel safe in taking a chance on onion futures?"

"Just as much as I would on these!" cried the witness, whipping a pair of bust-out dice from his pocket, and shooting them the length of the green baize.

OVER THE MURMURS of some city dwellers who have to confine their own wildlife to a few square feet, the Senate passed a bill to set aside 1,000 acres on the Florida Keys as a refuge for 100 miniature Key deer.

Even the Floridian on the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which held hearings on the measure, grumbled that 10 acres per tiny deer seemed a bit overgenerous, seeing that there's barely room on the Keys for all the humans who crave to live there. Senator George A. Smathers said, moreover, that he doubts if there are 100 deer. He's been living in Florida since 1919 and he has never seen one.

The committee chairman, Senator Warren G. Magnuson, of Washington, asked if they weren't being requested to set aside 1,000 acres of valuable land for non-existent animals, like the chimera or unicorn. This caused one of the witnesses, C. R. Guter-muth, secretary of the North American Wildlife Foundation, great agitation.

Mr. Guter-muth declared there was indeed such an animal—and that he would prove it if Sen. Magnuson would accompany him to a little saloon in Key West. Senator Magnuson who seldom gets up and goes to little saloons with strangers, even ones less distant, inquired why he had to go to a bar to see a miniature deer. Guter-muth said the joint had the head of one, stuffed.

"I have seen it many times," he declared soberly.

The hearing almost broke up in hysterics when Senator Magnuson demanded: "Did you see it when you first went into this little saloon, or after you had been there a while?"

THIS MUST BE related with restraint and delicacy. The other night the wife of one of our best-known Senators went to the opening of Bob Hope's outdoor show in Carter Barron amphitheater and was seated next to a woman who complained of having a splitting headache.

A pillar of compassion, the senator's lady began fumbling in her handbag for an aspirin. She had to do it by feel because it was pitch dark where she was sitting. She finally found a tablet, however, and handed it to the sufferer who swallowed it gratefully and soon whispered that her headache was better.

When the senator's wife got home, she looked into her handbag and discovered, to her dismay, that the tablet she had given the sufferer was not an aspirin, but a plant tab.

Board Votes To Close Garrett County School

OAKLAND—Mt. Zion School will be permanently closed and 12 or 14 children ordinarily attending there will be transported to Kitzmiller, the Board of Education decided at a meeting last week. The physical condition of the plant and the difficulty of finding a competent teacher were cited as reasons.

Bids on fleet policy insurance were opened and the contract was awarded to Nationwide Insurance Agency.

Accepted were resignations from Mrs. Olga Rowan and William Umbel, both of Northern, and approved were the appointments of Miss Arline Thacker, graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan, and former Prince George's teacher, and Enio Loreta, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, to replace them. Miss Thacker was transferred from Grantsville to Northern and her place at the former school will be filled by Paul Bailey, of Frostburg State.

Several changes in bus routes to provide better service, were approved. The board also approved transfer of the bus owned by Frank Arnold to Harold L. Crowe and approved Francis Miller as a driver for Carroll DeWitt, Thomas Beckman for Carl Wright, and Lorraine Wiley for Harold Wiley.

The superintendent was authorized to offer $2,000 for five lots needed for school purposes at Williamson.

The Lions Club requested a donation of any unused commodes, washbowls or urinals for the Boy Scout camp and the board promised to cooperate fully with this request.

It was reported that the cost of summer maintenance and renovation was $8,000 for work on both high schools, at Yoder, Crelin, Bloomington, Deer Park, Grantsville, Friendsville and North Glade.

All furniture and equipment needed for the two elementary schools has been purchased, it was reported, with the exception of two stage curtains.

Following adjournment, the board inspected work done at Yoder and Route 40.

Pythian Sisters To Attend Meet

MIDLAND — Mrs. Eleanor Hopkins, Frostburg, District 1 deputy grand chief of the Pythian Sisters of Maryland, visited Myrtle Temple 2 at a recent meeting held in Red Men's Hall with Mrs. Viola McGinnis presiding. The grand chief has asked all officers, past supreme chiefs, past supreme representatives, grand trustees and district deputies to wear gold evening gowns for the session.

Members of Myrtle Temple were complimented by Mrs. Hopkins on their ritualistic work, and the manner in which the members received her at all meetings. The supper committee planned a meeting for Tuesday evening to be held at the home of Mrs. Rhoda McKenzie.

Mrs. Nancy Lease, Mrs. Pansy Thrasher, Mrs. Eleanor Knott, past chief and Mrs. Pearl Blair plan to attend the Grand Temple session.

Hardy County Sets Annual Public Library Fund Drive

MOOREFIELD — The Hardy County Public Library has begun its annual drive for funds with which to run the library for another year.

The goal is $1,000, the same as for the past three or four years, this in spite of the fact that the Library Association plans to attend its county service this year, running the Bookmobile for a full year and including additional stops.

The drive will be extended this year for the first time to county residents and business firms, and money received from outside Moorefield will be earmarked for service in the county-extension of Bookmobile service with additional stops and service to the existing branches.

Letters have gone out to business houses, library users and other public-spirited citizens, pointing out that last year the Hardy County Public Library circulated about 12,000 books — at the Moorefield Library, through the branches, from the Bookmobile — or more than one book for every man, woman, and child in the county, at a cost, roughly, of only ten cents a book.

That amount per-book-circulated, bought books, paid local help, heated and maintained the library building and paid for Bookmobile gas, repairs and opera-

Pledges Top $12,000 For Plant Project

FROSTBURG — Pledges amounting to $12,000 have been received by the Advanced Gifts Committee of the Frostburg Industrial Group in the drive to raise funds for the construction of a plant here for the Cumberland Undergarment Company.

The organization will begin a drive today to raise $80,000. The drive will continue through Wednesday.

According to William Preston, who is heading the group of solicitors, a house-to-house canvass will be made during the three-day drive in an effort to sell the community on the idea of pledging enough funds to erect the building here. Company officials have promised to have work started immediately if the money is raised.

Preston has stated that there will be a meeting today at the City Hall at 7 p. m. to make final plans for the drive. Any interested citizen may attend the meeting.

Auto and other mishaps again took a grim weekend toll in West Virginia. Seven persons were killed and two others were critically injured.

Five of the fatalities stemmed from highway accidents. Three of the dead were out-of-state residents. A St. Albans High School senior died in a boating-swimming mishap, and a Nicholas county miner burned to death.

The boating victim was 17-year-old Joan Carole Webb, who died late Sunday of lacerations in her right side and abdomen received from the propeller of a motorboat as she swam in Coal River near Indian Creek Road.

In the operation phase of the contest, the entrants showed their ability and skill by driving through an obstacle course with a two-wheeled implement, backing down a long alleyway with a close clearance on either side, and then returning to the starting point. Commission Backs Need Of Bear Bill

ROMNEY — The West Virginia State Conservation Commission is taking increased cognizance of the need for more strict regulation of bear shooting.

It has instituted a bear research project and has located the headquarters for the research work at Elkins, under the direction of Robert Chambers.

With the black bear population decreasing dangerously, a bill designed to protect the animals was turned down by the 1957 Legislature. The Conservation Commission is anxious to acquaint the public with the bill.

The law, in short, would allow bear kills only in open season and the type of ammunition used is specified.

Property owners can kill the animals if they damage property, crops or livestock, including poultry and bees. Property owners will be reimbursed for damage done by bears.

The bill would levy a fine of $100 to $300 for killing a bear and allowing it to lay in the woods.

Other more detailed sections of the bill regulate the manner of taking the animals and prohibit certain practices considered unethical by sportsmen.

The bill was sponsored by West Virginia Sportsmen Unlimited.

Ten boys attended State Boys' Camp. They were William Sherman, Roger Kessel, Paul Williams, Charles Inskeep, James Shobe, Maurice Maxwell, Denton Thorne, William Calhoun, Wayne Snyder and J. T. Whitesell. During this camp a band judging contest was held, in which William Calhoun was second high scoring individual.

James Shobe won his junior life saving certificate.

Boys and girls who will represent the county in state contests during the West Virginia 4-H Roundup August 21-24, have been busy practicing. These contests include demonstrations, style revue, land judging, and vegetable identification and judging. Hardy County will have 12 boys and girls entering these events.

50,000 Shots Polio Vaccine Given In Area

Allegheny County's Program Started
In Spring Of 1955

More than 50,000 polio vaccine shots have been given by the Allegheny County Health Department since the program started in the spring of 1955.

The immunization program included 50,170 shots by June 30, according to an annual report of Health Department activities prepared by Mrs. Jennie J. Graham, administrative assistant.

Another 649 shots were given during July to bring the program to the 50,819 mark.

Immunizations were being given at a reduced rate during July, to pre-school children, students, children who missed the shots during the school term, and babies.

The shots given to babies in Well Baby Clinics actually marked a major milestone in the fight against polio here.

Polio shots are being given to babies now as a routine procedure, the same as DPT (diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus) shots and vaccination against smallpox.

During July, the Health Department also supplied 27 shots of polio vaccine in pre-natal clinics.

The department offers the program only to those under 20 and to pregnant women. Others get the protection from their family physicians.

Private physicians and the Health Department here have provided protection against polio for public and parochial children in grades 1 through 12, and staff physicians gave Health Department supplied vaccine to all students at Frostburg State Teachers College who requested it this spring.

The program began with vaccine supplied by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and was continued with federal supplies. Present supplies of the Salk type vaccine are supplied by the State Health Department.

Martha Dodd Branded Spy For Kremlin

WASHINGTON (P)—House investigators say testimony by U.S. counterspy Boris Morros clearly establishes the daughter of a former U.S. ambassador "as part of the Soviet apparatus."

Chairman Walter (D-Pa) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said Morros has named Martha Dodd Stern as a Soviet spy who once tried to betray Morros' counterspy activities to the Soviets.

Mrs. Stern is the socialite daughter of the late William E. Dodd, who was ambassador to Nazi Germany from 1933 to 1938. She and her husband recently vanished from Mexico City and relief has been expressed both are now behind the Iron Curtain.

Walter said testimony by Morros "clearly established Martha Dodd... and her husband, Alfred Stern, as part of the Soviet apparatus." Stern is a wealthy investment broker.

Morros, a Russian-born Hollywood composer-director, was revealed last week as a double agent who had fooled the Soviets for 12 years. He gave first details in a news conference in New York, and Walter said he gave the committee further information under oath in New York Friday.

Walter said his committee had been in contact with Morros for the past six months, and has gleaned much valuable information from him. This, Walter said, included statements that:

1. A secretary in the U.S. Embassy in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and a member of the U.S. intelligence agency in Germany were Soviet agents. The individuals were not named.

2. Morros' superiors in the Soviet espionage net asked him to get compromising information about President Eisenhower and other prominent Americans.

3. Fifty-five business firms in the United States were really cover for Soviet espionage activities. None were named.

A committee aide said Mrs. Stern's alleged activities in behalf of the Soviets occurred in the 1940s.

The couple went to Mexico several weeks ago. Last May they were convicted in absentia of contempt when they ignored a subpoena to appear before a New York federal grand jury investigating Jack and Myra Sobel. The Sterns were fined $25,000 each.

Morros' double role came to light after Myra Sobel and Jacob Albam were sentenced for espionage. Jack Sobel still is awaiting sentence.

Walter said Morros testified Friday that Vassili Zubilin, former second secretary to the Soviet Embassy, took Morros to the Stern home in Connecticut.

"Subsequent to this, Martha Dodd Stern wrote a derogatory report to her superiors in which she questioned Morros' loyalty to the Soviet apparatus," Walter said.

Youth Critical After Injured In Car Chase

SALISBURY (P)—A Delaware youth injured in what police said was a high-speed accident was in critical condition in Peninsula General Hospital today.

Delaware state police said James Edward Littleton, 16, of RD3, Laurel, Del., suffered a concussion, skull fracture and broken leg in the crash yesterday on Delaware 76.

The accident happened one mile west of Delmar, Del., right on the Maryland border.

Littleton was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, John William Littleton, 20. The older brother suffered cuts of the leg and face but his condition was good.

State police said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed around a curve when it went out of control and struck an abutment.

Mothers Pool Efforts To Form Sitters Club

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (P)—A group of mothers in suburban Milwood have solved the babysitting problem by setting up an informal "corporation" to pool their own time.

The corporation issues paper money in two denominations. One calls for a half hour's service and the other for a full hour. Each mother starts out with the same amount of "money."

When a mother needs a babysitter, she calls on an available member of Mothers, Inc., and pays her in the money of the corporation.

If she runs short, she stays home long enough to "balance" her accounts. If she accumulates a surplus, she speeds up her demands on fellow members.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Bachelor, 52, pays attention to girl in a group but avoids her when alone.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a career girl, 31, single — and I'd like more than anything to be married and have children. A bachelor, 52, is employed by my firm—and I've admired and loved him almost from the first day I saw him, five years ago.

The peculiar torment I suffer, wondering about his intentions (if any), is driving me crazy. I say this lightly, but the suspense is taking its toll.

At company functions Ed is often at my side, and in the company cafeteria he often shares a table with me (and other employees). Also our sense of humor is congenial. Co-workers have noticed his partiality to me, and some have commented that he "goes for" me.

Well, that isn't much evidence of romance, perhaps—but it's the best I've got.

Girl Asks Help In Seeing Self

What confuses me is, if Ed sees me alone, he gives me the go-by... Frankly, I'm not too experienced with men, and don't know quite what to do. I like him so well that I would be willing to wait forever, I suppose—except that I can't wait until I am 50, if I am to hear the patter of little feet in my house (our house).

If I were a little bolder I might know what to do—or rather, might go ahead and do it. But I don't want to ask him for a date. And maybe I've dreamed unduly about the whole business. I haven't seen another man in five years whom I would even consider dating. Men my age seem silly or dull. I've often felt that way about my contemporaries, as I am a fairly serious person. How hopeless are bachelors after 50? I sometimes think wishful thinking my problem? Can you give me a realistic slant on myself?—N.W.

Two Of A Kind — Self-Rejecting

DEAR N. W.: You and Ed are two of a kind, it seems, in terms of feeling, self-consciously, that you don't know how (or would be afraid) to deal with "the Moment of Truth" about your mutual interest—if you were face to face, alone together. ("The Moment of Truth" is a facetious label applied by sophisticates to a first exchange, between a smitten pair, about their sentiments).

Back of the mask of nonchalance worn by Ed and you in group situations, each of you feels gauchely unworthy and unprepared to drop your guard and honestly disclose, by words or actions, a sense of special affinity for—or attraction to—the other, in a private conversation.

Each of you assumes unconsciously that you've nothing desirable or acceptable to offer, in your own right, of love, companionship, friendship and such.

It is this type of misgiving, based on a damaged self-estimate, that underlies Ed's custom of paying you noticeable attentions only when others are present, and slyly evading tete-a-tete opportunities. Similarly, the same misgiving (in your heart) inhibits you from making positive constructive efforts to get on a closer footing with Ed.

Indicate Mutual Interests Nicely

You catalogue men your age as dull and silly because they seem indifferent to you, no doubt. And perhaps this mutual chill is due mostly to your defeatist conviction that you simply have no appeal for them—hence you don't try to please or interest them.

Instead, you reject them outright, sight unseen and chances untried—to save your pride.

The fact that you've "often felt the same"—that is, rejecting—towards contemporaries indicates that you've always been defensive and discouraged socially; a lonely person, estranged even from hopes of love, marriage, warm advocacy, etc.

As for what to do about Ed—don't ask him for a date, of course. But do offer friendship: in voice, manner and quiet interest in all that interests him. Try to make it easy for him to ask you for a date—by caring about things that he enjoys: golf, swimming, riding, art shows, ballet, or what-have you.

If he doesn't take the hint, and give you a break when he's approached, you ought to write him off as a lost cause. I think. M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Evening Times.

City Council Seeks Street Job Action

Asks State Roads Commission To Get Federal Assistance

The Mayor and Council moved today to request the State Roads Commission to program the proposed George Street extension as the first step in obtaining federal assistance on the project.

The order approved qualified itself by providing that the city will inform the SRC when it has sufficient funds in the urban development bond account for such an improvement and further provided that the city does not obligate itself until the time funds are available to meet its share.

Estimated cost of the entire project, including rights of way and construction, is $100,000 of which $50,000 would be paid by the city, according to a report made by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

In January, the SRC requested and the federal Bureau of Public Roads approved, that George Street be included in the Federal Aid Secondary System.

Connect With Centre

Before submitting the request, the SRC Planning Division made a study of the Cumberland Planning Commission's recommendation to extend George from Frederick, parallel to the B&O Railroad to a point near the B&O viaduct where it would be connected with Centre Street. The studies indicated that to open up George Street would improve the flow of traffic from the downtown shopping area to North Cumberland, particularly after the Cumberland Thruway is completed; with the exit and approach ramps which connected to George Street or Commerce Street near Salem Street.

Nuzum said the estimate was prepared so the council might consider opening George Street by stages and includes the cost of property acquisition. The street would be 40 feet wide.

Wouldn't Cross Tracks

At the time the Frederick Street project was approved, it was anticipated that George Street be extended so when Frederick was made one-way north, traffic would be able to get to Bedford Street without crossing B&O tracks.

Since the street is included in the federal aid system, the city is eligible to receive 50 per cent of costs of construction and rights-of-way acquisition. Nuzum pointed out. Total cost of opening the street includes $88,280 for rights-of-way and $11,720 for construction.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said he favors the program as quickly as possible.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said "if the money is available."

Keegan replied he had been told a few months ago "that the city is broke" and "then all at once I hear that the city has had a windfall. I'm not going to worry about costs anymore."

Wait 'Til Cows Come Home

Long said if council wanted to go on record as seeking funds from other sources, it was all right with him. And Mayor Roy W. Eves added it was council's duty to inform the SRC the city would go ahead when funds are available.

"But Keegan continued that if the 'when funds available' clause is put in the proposal, 'We will be waiting until the cows come home. If it's for the benefit of the city, then go ahead and do it.'"

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out there is about $20,000 in the urban development fund. That means about $30,000 is still needed by the city to meet its share of the cost.

Council Accepts Bid For Truck

Mapleside Playground expressed its appreciation to the Mayor and Council today "for the many weeks of pleasure and fun you have given us this summer."

City operated or supervised play sites are nearing the end of the season under Recreation Department direction.

Council accepted the bid of St. George Motor Company of $3,368.21 for a half-ton truck for use of the sewage treatment plant.

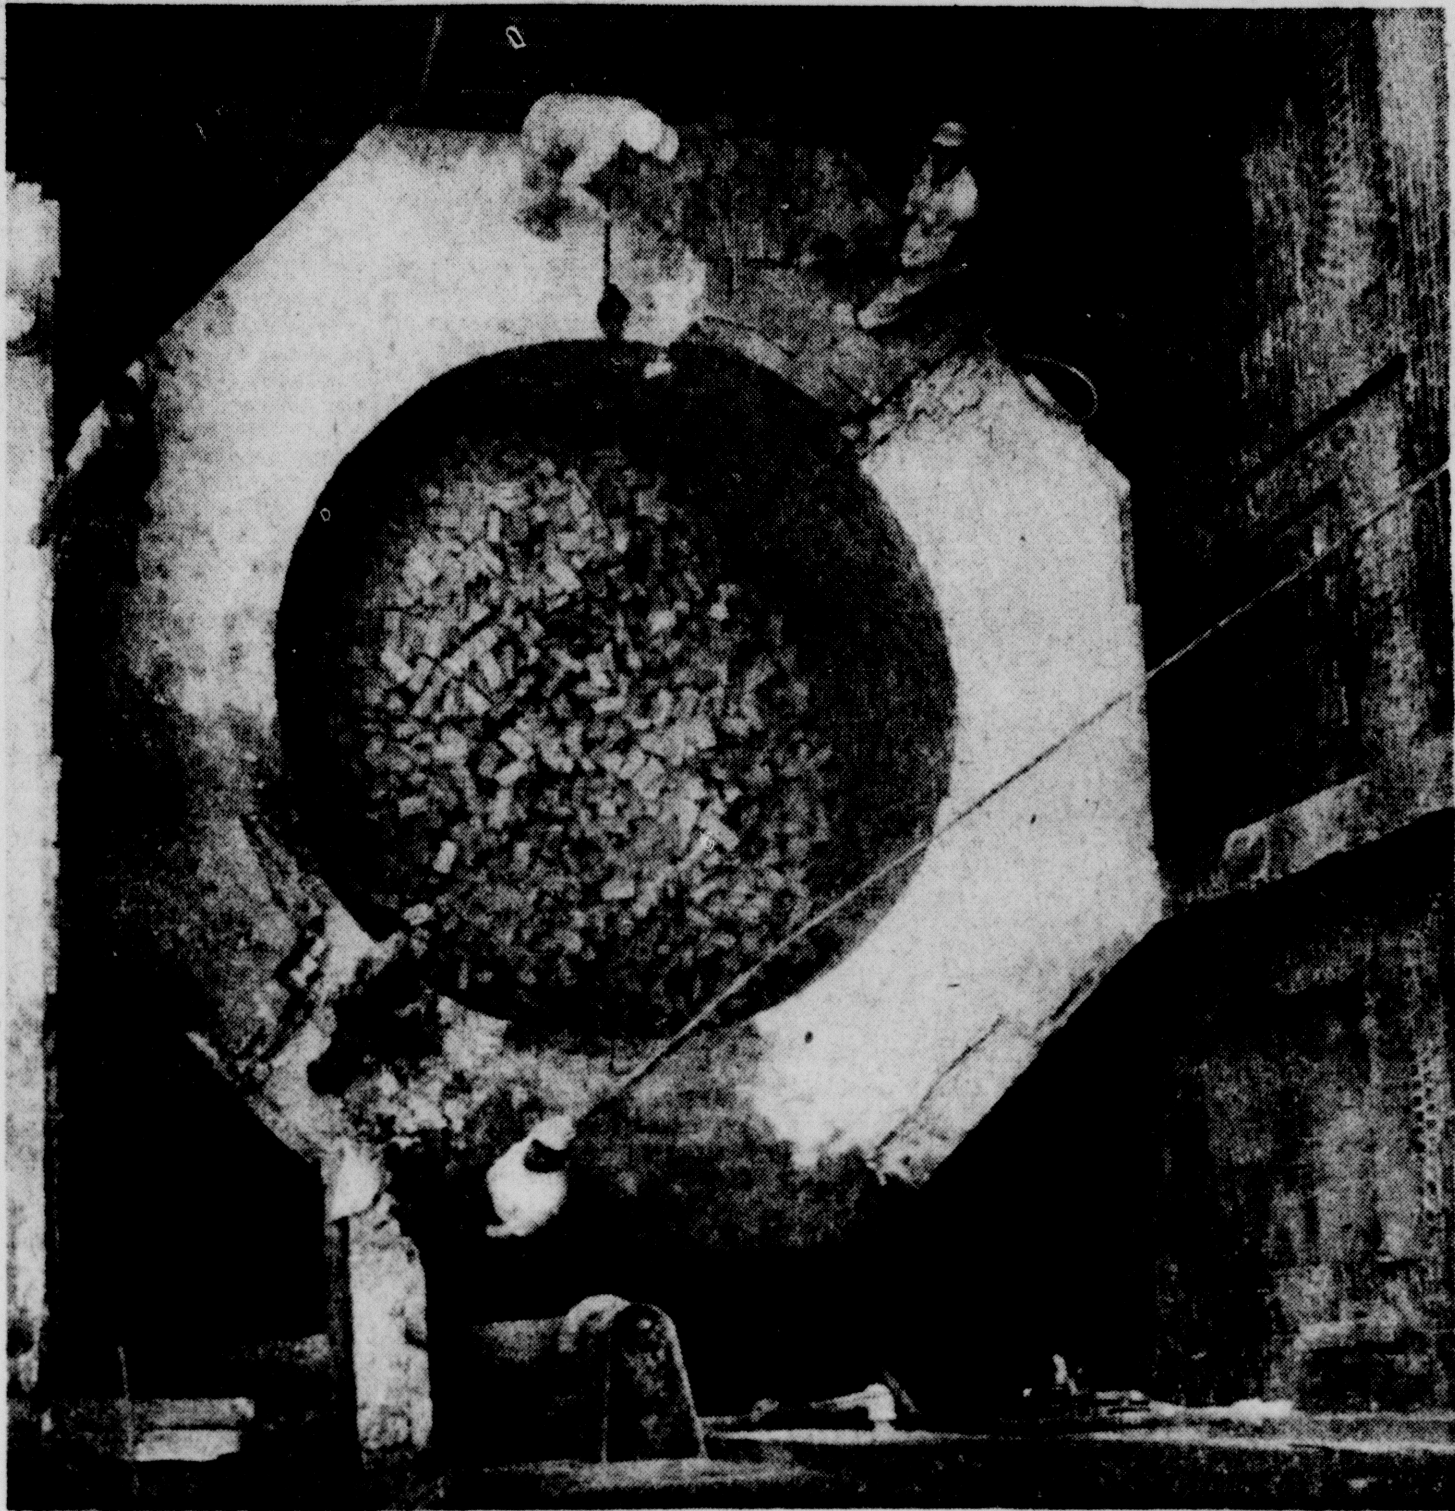

City attorney Thomas B. Finan was authorized to draw up a resolution of respect to the late Nelson W. Russler, South End businessman.

Referred to commissioners William H. Buchholtz and William J. Edwards with power to act was a state health department invitation to send employee representatives to a short course for water and sewage plant operators at the University of Delaware Sept. 4, 5 and 6.

Woman Dies In Two-Car Accident

The mother of a local wholesale man was killed instantly yesterday afternoon in a two-car accident near Chambersburg, Pa.

Victim of the mishap was Mrs. Lillie M. Zimmerman, 76, Keedysville, Md. (near Hagerstown), mother of Glenn O. Zimmerman who operates a wholesale house on Bedford Street.

Pennsylvania State Police, who investigated, said Mrs. Zimmerman was driving her vehicle on the Lincoln Highway, 10 miles east of Chambersburg when she collided with another car.

Mrs. Carl Herman and her three children were passengers in the Zimmerman car, but escaped serious injury.

The victim is a native of Chambersburg and daughter of the late Noah and Elizabeth (Layman) Ernst.

She was a Sunday School teacher at the Salem EUB Church of Keedysville, a member of the Keedysville Homemakers Club, Order of Eastern Star and leader of the Keedysville 4-H Girls Club.

Besides her son, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. L. Mullendone, Hagerstown; a sister, Mrs. Francis Sitterly; three brothers, Rev. I. S. Ernst, Ammon L. Ernst and Paul A. Ernst, all of Chambersburg, and a grandchild.

The body is at the East Funeral Home in Boonsboro.

Services will be conducted Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Keedysville EUB Church by Rev. Ivan Nangle. Interment will be in Fairview Cemetery there.

Man Ordered Committed For Examination

A 31-year-old local man was ordered committed to the State Hospital following a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick ordered Donald Parker, of 509 1/2 Decatur Street, held for examination at the Spring Grove institution.

Parker was charged with attempting to take his own life last Monday at his home.

His wife, Mrs. Ruth Parker, 31, had sentence withheld in Trial Magistrate Court pending the outcome of a hearing in Juvenile Court this afternoon.

Mrs. Parker is charged with neglect of her five children, according to court attaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker were arrested by City Police last Monday morning at their home following a report that they were attempting suicide. Police found the Parkers in their kitchen with five burners on a range turned on, and all windows and doors closed.

Buchholtz Raps Mayor Eves Legislative For Failure To Stop Debate Roads Group Meet In City

Stating that "this has reached the saturation point," street commissioner William H. Buchholtz today rapped Mayor Roy W. Eves for his failure to limit debate over an open ditch sewage problem and related subjects in the Wempe Drive-Oldtown Road section.

Buchholtz spoke out at this morning's meeting of the Mayor and Council after a delegation from the area appeared for the fourth or fifth week in succession to protest what it has termed a health hazard and danger to children at play. Buchholtz said two weeks ago estimated cost of repairing the site at $90,000 repeated again today that "the solution is money."

The delegation has hammered away at its problem week after week and today Mrs. Frank White, who has been on hand at each meeting, interposed questions at various times during the meeting.

When she got to the floor again after the discussion had apparently been closed, Buchholtz said he believed Mayor Eves has an obligation in this matter since he was there and inspected the site two weeks ago. Buchholtz said the Mayor knows what the situation is and what he (Buchholtz) is doing to try to solve it.

"It is up to him to say that there has been enough discussion on it," the commissioner said, adding "This has reached the saturation point."

Mrs. White protested this approach saying that as taxpayers she and her group have the right to find out where the tax money is going and to bring their problems before council.

Buchholtz also had a rather sharp answer for John McFarland, 507 Pine Avenue, who is building a house on East Side and said dust conditions are so bad that new paint looks brown overnight.

Buchholtz pointed out again he has one grader and one distributor in his department and both are worn out. He said street oiling follows a pattern and he cannot go from one section to another just to oil one street and then return. He said he must grade and roll streets before they are oiled otherwise the oil would not last two days. The department tried to rent equipment but could not because of construction work of private contractors, he added.

Coming before council will not speed up the work, he said, since the department will get to it as soon as it can. The first job which the department must finish is the new road to Northeast School on Valley Road. When that is completed, oiling and related projects will be speeded up.

Referring to the defeated proposal for a tax limitation hike, Buchholtz said the people turned down the chance of getting some new equipment.

The fact that present equipment is worn out "is nobody's fault," he added, stating that his department has only so much money, so many people and so much equipment, and can do only so much.

Surviving, besides his mother, are his widow, Mrs. Margaret (Valentine) Baker; two sons, Jack and Charles R. Baker, and a brother, Raymond M. Baker, all of this city, and three grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home where services will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. Rev. Carl H. Clepp, pastor of St. Mark's Church, will officiate and interment will be in the cemetery.

County Lists Details Of Fund Surplus

Total Revenue For Past Fiscal Year Exceeded $4,000,000

Allegany County wound up its 1956-57 fiscal year with a whopping $562,685 surplus to put into its levy for the 1957-58 fiscal year.

The county, according to audited figures, had actual revenues during the year amounting to $4,189,397. However, deducting the discounts given for early payment of taxes, and the insolvencies granted, the net revenues were $4,042,147.

The county commissioners had estimated it would receive $3,789,563 when it set the levy for the past fiscal year in April 1956. The commissioners had an aggregate of $248,112 in unexpended balances from the previous year to throw into the 1956-57 revenue column.

All Not Spent

The commissioners appropriated a total of $4,037,567, but according to the final figures for each departmental account, the actual expenditures amounted to $3,954,869, leaving a surplus of $82,766.

Adding the $82,766 to the $252,583 received in revenues over what was estimated, give a net balance of $335,350.

Adding to it the unappropriated surplus of $235,172, gave the county a total surplus of $562,685.

In explaining the unappropriated surplus of $235,172, Mrs. Sills pointed out that in April 1956 the county commissioners estimated that their balance of unexpended funds could be $248,112.

But actually, it amounted to $481,330. Other revenues were received after the June 30 date, to be applied to the 1956-57 fiscal year and the amount went to $235,172.

More Than Expected

In April of this year when the commissioners set the levy for the 1957-58 fiscal period they estimated the unappropriated surplus would be $553,000. It turned out to be $562,635.

During the year that ended June 30, the following departments spent just as much as was appropriated. They were:

Health Conv.	33,

The possibility of Ted Williams or Mickey Mantle, or both, hitting .400 will depend on a strong September finish.

Earl Hilligan, director of the American League Service Bureau, points out that in the past .400 hitters have had it when the going was toughest and it counted the most—in the final month of the season.

Williams, last major leaguer to reach the magic hitting figure in 1941, put on a spectacular last-day show to wind up at .406. The Boston Red Sox slugger had been at .407 through Aug. 31, but a September slump brought him down to .395 on closing day, Sept. 28.

The Red Sox had a doubleheader and Ted went four-for-five in the opener. He could have quit for the day and insured his .400-plus average, but he didn't. In the nightcap, he had two hits in three trips to the plate to boost his average still more.

On that final Sunday, the Thumper had four singles, one double and one homer.

Both Williams and Mantle face uphill fights at this point, but their situation is far from impossible. In 1929, for instance, George Sisler entered September with only a .395 mark but wound up at .407.

He built his average to .402 through Sept. 23 and then went on a brilliant finishing spree. He hit safely in the last nine games played by his club, the St. Louis Browns, in four of them getting three hits.

Sisler batted .524 for those nine games and .448 from Sept. 1 through the end of the season on Oct. 3.

Harry Heilmann was only hitting .390 going into September in 1923 but batted .419 through the final 35 games to finish with a .403 average.

Ty Cobb, who hit over .400 on three occasions, encountered an early September slump in 1922 that dropped his average to .388. Then, from Sept. 13 through Oct. 1, he belted the ball at a .524 clip to wind up at .401. He had three hits in five trips in his last two games to make it.

In all, six American Leaguers have reached the .400 mark a total of nine times. Cobb didn't win the batting championship in 1922 despite his high average. Sisler hit .420 the same season.

Ty also hit .420 in 1911 and .410 in 1912. Nap Lajoie had a .422 mark in 1901, the first year the American League set up shop, and Shoeless Joe Jackson rang the bell at .408 in 1911.

Oddly enough, only two National Leaguers have reached the .400 circle in the 20th century. Rogers Hornsby did it three times, and Bill Terry hit .401 for the New York Giants in 1930. It hasn't happened since in the N. L.

Sports Keg Residue

For most baseball fans, Mickey Mantle is synonymous with the Yankees, but the switch-hitting slugger takes a back seat so far as one local man is concerned. Cornelius (Pete) Bageant, an engineer at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, has Jerry Coleman as his favorite.

Bageant and the Yankee second sacker served in the same outfit as Marine flyers during the Korean War and became close friends. However, it was quite a while before Bageant found out the civilian identity of his fellow flyer. One day he asked Coleman what he did in civilian life and Jerry told him that he "played a little professional baseball."

It wasn't until several days later that Bageant learned Coleman was the second baseman of the world-champion Yanks.

"I wasn't much of a baseball fan at the time and you can imagine how silly I felt after some of my buddies informed me of Coleman's prominence," says Bageant. Mike Hadra, star catcher for Kiwanis Club in the Hot Stove League, is recuperating in Memorial Hospital from erysipelas, a skin disease of which little has been heard in recent years. Hadra is also a caddy at the Cumberland Country Club.

Pat Conway, who coached football at LaSalle High when the Explorers were riding the top, stopped off to visit friends here yesterday while en route to a vacation in Ohio. Pat is working in the Navy Annex at Arlington, Va.

Tom O'Connor had a pleasant surprise the other day when 44 candidates attended the opening football practice at Ridgeley High.

The Blackhawk mentor and his predecessors have been accustomed to working with barely enough players to make two teams.

Braves Jumpy After Losing Pair To Cardinals

Disastrous '56 Finish Recalled By Pacesetters

By FRED DE LUCA
NEW YORK (INS)—It's still too soon for a panic but Milwaukee's jumpy enough now to be frightened by the shadow of its own history.

Even after losing two games to St. Louis yesterday under trying conditions at Milwaukee the Braves still lead the league by 6½ games with only 37 still to be played.

But the Braves remember last year when they blew a 5½ game lead in about the same amount of time. To add to their troubles, the Braves start on a road trip tomorrow which will test their right to the pennant.

Lose Five-Run Lead

The Braves might have been spared yesterday's horror had it rained a little longer. But, despite delays of 90 and 44 minutes, the doubleheader went on to its grim-for Milwaukee—conclusion. The Braves were never in the second game, losing 6-to-0 on Wilmer Mizell's four-hit pitching. But in the opener, the Braves frittered away a five-run lead and finally lost in ten innings, 8 to 6.

Stan Musial bashed a two-run homer in the tenth that gave Billy Muffett the win and Juan Pizarro the loss. The Cards were losing 6 to 1, until the seventh when they scored once.

They added two more runs in the eighth and tied it in the ninth on Eddie Kasko's bases-loaded single.

Musial contributed two singles to the second-game rout and Wally Moon homered as Bob Trowbridge absorbed the defeat. Musial also passed the 5,000-mark in total bases.

Pirates Split Pair

Elsewhere in the National League, Brooklyn split a pair with Pittsburgh. The Dodgers and Sal Maglie won the first, 2 to 1, on Duke Snider's two-run homer off Bob Friend.

The Pirates scored four unearned runs off Clem Labine to even the day's score, 8 to 6. The Chicago Cubs won their sixth in a row and handed Cincinnati its sixth straight setback, 8 to 2. The second game of the twin bill was rained out. The New York Giants took two from Philadelphia, 5 to 4 and 1 to 0, with Hank Sauer hitting two homers in the opener and Al Worthington hurling the three-hit shutout.

In the American League, Yogi Berra cracked out of a long slump with five hits as the New York Yankees swept Baltimore, 7 to 0 and 3 to 2, with Tom Sturdivant pitching the shutout. The Yanks' lead increased to 7½ games as the Chicago White Sox split with Detroit. The Tigers won the opener, 5 to 1, as Frank Lary outpitched Billy Pierce but the Go-Sox won the second, 4 to 1, behind Dick Donovan.

Roy Sievers hit a grand-slam homer to pace Washington to a 6-to-4 victory over Boston, and Cleveland routed Kansas City, 9 to 2. Sturdivant allowed five hits and received the backing of a 16-hit attack. Berra drove in all three nightcap runs as Don Larsen beat Connie Johnson. Mickey Mantle was 3-for-7 on the day to lift his average to .385. In Washington, Ted Williams was 1-for-4 and fell to .392.

Huris Four-Hitter

Lary permitted four hits in beating Pierce. Frank Bolling and Ray Boone homered for the Tigers. Donovan doled out eight hits to win his 14th game. Sherm Lollar drove in three Go-Sox runs.

Sievers' homer was his 31st for Washington and raised his runs-batted-in total to 86. The blow came off loser Frank Sullivan.

The Indians scored five times in the second to help Cal McLish to an easy victory. Arnie Portocarrero was charged with the defeat.

The Dodgers managed only two hits off Friend but put Jim Gilliam's single and Snider's homer together in the seventh inning for the win. Snider hit his 31st homer in the second game but it was wiped out when the Bucs scored four times in the eighth.

Bob Rush, who won only one game in the first half of the season, won his third straight in the second half as he gave the Redlegs eight hits. Joe Nuxhall lost as Ernie Banks and Cal Neeman homered for the Cubs.

Homers No. 18 and 19 by Sauer drove in three runs for the Giants and helped bonus baby Mike McCormick to his second win. Warren Hacker was the loser and Harvey Haddix suffered the same fate in the second game on fourth-inning doubles by Daryl Spencer and Bobby Thomson.

Elks Protest Rotary Win

Elks' manager "Farmer" Northcraft has lodged an official protest over the 2-0 victory scored by Rotary Club in winning the Hot Stove Baseball League pennant Friday evening at Penn Avenue Field.

Northcraft contends the umpires erred in giving Jim Rice a homer in the seventh as the ball went through a hole in the fence and should have been good for only two bases. The teams had played to a scoreless deadlock for six innings when Rice, first up in the seventh, completed the circuit on the sock to right field. The Elks then announced they were protesting.

Rotary added another run after that, when with two away, Ed Melvin tripled Wellington Donahue home after he had singled following Rice's sock.

Earl Nonnenmann, league president, was to hand down a ruling on the protest today. The umpires stated that there was no ground rule covering Rice's hit. The teams entered the game in a tie for first place, the winner copping the flag.

If the protest is upheld and the game resumed at the point of Rice's hit, the Rotary club will have Rice on second with none away in the top of the seventh and the score 0-0.

Caseys Seeking Sweep To Finals

Knights of Columbus and Old Germans, who couldn't decide a winner in the second game of the best-of-three semi-final series of the City Softball League when battling to a 7-7 tie on Friday, will replay the entire contest this evening at Allegany Field. The tilt is to start at 6:15.

A win for the Caseys puts them into the finals against Hermans while a loss shaves the series limit with the deciding game billed for Wednesday at Stitzer Field.

The Knights and Hermans finished in a deadlock for first place over the season with the Caseys getting the top spot on the flip of a coin. They won over the Brewers, 3-1, in the opener.

Hermans swept fourth-place Old Exports, 18-0 and 6-2, to move into the title series. If the Caseys take today's contest the finals are scheduled to start Wednesday at Stitzer. They will also be best-of-three.

MERCHANTS-POST CLASH SET TODAY

South End Merchants and Post Playground, who played to a 4-4 eighth-inning tie in the opening game of their best-of-three semi-finals in Rec Softball League last Thursday, will again attempt to get the contest out of the way this evening as they meet at Stitzer Field. The tilt will begin at 6:15.

Peskin's Shoe Store can eliminate pennant-winning Sports Shoppe as they collide tomorrow at Stitzer Field. The Shoemen took the first game, 6-3, Thursday.

Jackson Captures Odd-Hole Tourney

Post a net of 36-4-32, Orrville T. Jackson won the odd-hole tourney over the weekend by the Men's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club. Twenty-six members participated.

Players with flags on par-three holes were Nos. 1 and 10—William Claus, No. 6—Clifton Van Roby, No. 12—Dave Klein, No. 15—George Petras, No. 18—Dr. A. G. Sandhoff.

The Women's Golf Association will stage a straight handicap tourney tomorrow, starting at 10 a.m.

Swim Officials Guard Against 'Inflatable' Bras

LONDON—(INS)—A group of men and women swimmers taking part in an international cross channel swim Tuesday will be "frisked" for "buoyancy aids" to minutes before they enter the water at Calais.

Organizers of the swim were told that some of the seven women and 17 men participating planned to wear inflatable bras, foam rubber bathing slips and padded bathing caps during the Calais to Dover trip.

American swimmer Florence Burdette remarked: "It's going to be embarrassing with the male observers hanging around."

Locals Blank Meyersdale

Cumberland's tennis team, winless in four previous outings, snapped its streak with a vengeance yesterday when it scored an 11-0 triumph over Meyersdale on the Pennsylvanians' courts.

Meyersdale, crippled by the loss of two regulars, made it close in only two of the men's matches.

In a special women's match, 15-year-old Sandra Roeder, future local star, defeated Jean Dahl of Meyersdale, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

The summaries of men's play with Cumberland players listed first:

Bill Day-Dave Reed, 6-3, 7-5.
Johnny Byrd-Terry Thomas, 6-0, 6-1.
Jimmy Twigg-Fred Bolden, 6-1, 6-1.
Harold Brown-S. Philson, 6-4, 6-0.
Lue Sykes-Don Bolden, 6-0, 6-1.
Don Hanekamp-A. Thomas, 6-0, 6-2.
Walter Thomas won over his opponent, 6-0, 6-2.

DOUBLES
Byrd and Sykes defeated T. Thomas and Reed, 6-0, 6-2.
Day and Brown won over F. Bolden and Philson, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.
Hanekamp and Twigg tripped A. Thomas and D. Bolden, 6-0, 6-3.

'Savage, Ellerslie Open Pony Finals

Mt. Savage and Ellerslie, repeating as finalists in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League, open the best-of-three set this evening at Ellerslie.

'Savage swept the Sox in last season's finals by taking 5-3 and 2-0 victories. Ellerslie won the pennant this summer while 'Savage finished in second place.

Manager Curtis Hickie's team eliminated Cresaptown, 12-3 and 9-4, the latter triumph clinching the semi-finals after Cresaptown had won the second contest, 10-6.

'Savage, piloted by Howard Morris, ushered out Lonaconing, winning the deciding game, 3-2 in eight innings, Friday.

Today's game will begin at 5:45.

Doubles Play Starts Today At Brookline

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—A pair of unranked veterans and a seasoned Davis Cup tandem were America's chief hopes against a strong foreign field today as the 77th National Doubles Tennis Championships got underway at Longwood.

Gardnar Mulloy, 43, and Budge Patty, 34, were top-seeded over heralded U. S. and Australian Davis Cup stars on the basis of one triumph—over Aussies Lew Hoad and Neale Fraser for the Wimbledon Championship.

With Hoad and former partner Ken Rosewall now in the pro ranks, Fraser and Ashley Cooper were seeded No. 2 ahead of Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson, the aces of the U. S. Davis Cup squad. Seixas and Richardson were empowered by Hoad and Rosewall in the 1956 finals.

Aussies Roy Emerson and Bob Mark were seeded fourth followed by Mike Davies and Bob Wilson, who yesterday became the first English doubles team to win the Newport title.

Davies defeated 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2 by Mal Anderson of Australia for the Newport singles championship. Then he and Wilson teamed to defeat Cooper and Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Barton, 'Coney Seeking Finals

Barton and Lonaconing, one-two finishers in the Twilight Baseball League during the season, can reach the finals this evening by scoring sweeps in the best-of-three semi-final contests.

Pennant-winning Barton will clash with third-place Zihlman on the Barton field while runnerup Lonaconing meets fourth-place Midland on the latter's diamond.

Barton took the opener from Zihlman, 4-3, in eight innings and 'Coney whipped Midland, 7-5. If the games are forced to the limit, the clubs will play Wednesday.

Barton and Zihlman would meet at Midland with Lonaconing and Midland playing at Zihlman.

Wildcats Plaster Oakland, 25-13

Olson's Fistic Career Ended By McMurtry

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Pat McMurtry went home to Tacoma, Wash., to prepare for some big money heavyweight bouts after ending Carl (Bobo) Olson's long career with an explosive right hand Saturday night.

McMurtry, 187½, who looks more like a college football player than a boxer, stopped Olson, 185, a former middleweight champion, in 2:34 of the second round of a scheduled 10-round main event of an outdoor show here.

Olson, now manager of a night club at nearby Vancouver, Wash., announced his retirement from boxing minutes after his handlers had hauled him to his feet and revived him.

"That's it," said the once durable, hard-chinned Olson. "I was among the best once and if I can't get back up there, I don't want to continue."

Tommy Moyer, who promised the match that drew about 9,500 fans for an estimated $50,000 gate, immediately started trying to line up a September title bout between McMurtry and heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

But Clarence McMurtry, father and manager of the crew-cut Tacoma fighter, said his son won't be ready for Patterson until "about a year."

Reds Rock Hyndman's Bid To Cinch Pen-Mar Title Tie

Hyndman's bid to assure itself a tie for the pennant in the Pen-Mar Baseball League suffered a setback yesterday when manager Mel Nee's Centerville Reds spilled the pace-setters, 6-5, at Centerville. A four-run rally in the eighth cut down the Merchants who now have only a two-game lead over deadlocked runnersup Barreille and Zihlman.

The Merchants, with three games remaining, are seeking their first flag in the nine-year history of the league. They need only one triumph in the last three tilts to cinch the tie for honors.

Runnersup Won

Barreille, hoping to repeat as champion, scored its 10th straight triumph as the Old Exports whipped Mt. Savage, 9-4, at home while Zihlman stayed in the deadlock for second by trimming Grantsville, 9-7, at Zihlman. Wellersburg kept Flintstone's perfect record intact with a 17-1 rout of the Farmers at Wellersburg to land the tailenders their 24th loss without a victory.

Glenn Deremer, although whacked for 14 hits, pitched the victory over the Merchants. It was the ninth win in 18 decisions for the Centerville moundmen while Hyndman dropped only its fifth tilt in 25 starts.

The victory was also an important one for the Reds as they took over fourth place, a full game in front of Grantsville.

Trailing in the eighth, 5-2, Centerville won the game by scoring four runs at the expense of Carl May. Deremer started the rally with a single and scored on Glenn Street's triple. Gary Reeder doubled and Street crossed the platter. Dave Rose's three-base wallop tied the score and Homer Rose laid down a bunt, beat it out and squeezed Dave Rose over with the deciding marker.

Hyndman threatened in the ninth when Lou Hite singled and Clay Leydig was hit by a pitched ball. After Cook kinked, Gene Stair sacrificed, and both runners advanced. Then Dave Rose saved the day with a sensational running catch of Clites' drive to deep left-center.

Clites paced the Hyndman stickers with three hits while Hite, Stair and May of Hyndman collected a pair as did Reeder. Dave Rose and Ronnie Diehl of

Glasses Not For Baseball, Claims Berra

By International News Service
Yogi Berra gives his solemn promise that he will never wear his eyeglasses again while he is up at bat.

The squat catcher of the New York Yankees turned to glasses in desperation about a month ago when he couldn't snap out of a batting slump that had shackled him almost all season long.

But the glasses didn't help much and he still was hitting well below .250 when he discarded the spectacles last week in Boston.

"The cheaters didn't help," said Yogi. "I'm hitting better since I took them off. From now on, as far as I'm concerned, glasses are for reading and watching television."

The three-time winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award proved yesterday that he really was hitting better since giving up the glasses.

He was 3-for-3 in the opening game of a doubleheader with Baltimore yesterday which the Yanks won, 7 to 0, as Berra knocked in two runs. The Yanks also won the nightcap, 3 to 2, as Berra was 2-and-4 and drove in all three Yankee runs.

The productive day lifted Berra's batting average from .236 to .245. It also bore out his recent statement that American League pitchers were going to pay for his early slump before the season was out.

Venturi Great In St. Paul Win

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The golf sages who have predicted greatness for Ken Venturi had a solid talking point today—a 22-under-par ramble that brought the Californian a record-matching victory in the St. Paul Open.

Venturi climaxed the finest shooting of his career yesterday with a 68 for a two-stroke margin over fellow townsman Bob Rosburg of San Francisco and a 72-hole 266. The score equaled the tournament mark shared by Cary Middlecott and Lloyd Mangrum.

It was the first circuit championship for a pro newcomer who some say may be a coming superstar of Ben Hogan magnitude.

The 26-year-old former Walker Cupper had rounds of 66, 67, 65 and 68 on the par 72 Keller Course. He killed off Rosburg's challenge with a birdie four on the final hole, where he missed a 10-foot eagle putt by inches with chance to set a new tournament record.

Cardinals Hit By Asiatic Flu

CHICAGO—(INS)—Four members of the Chicago Cardinals football team were still absent from practice with a disease identified as Asiatic flu, which last week struck down 40 players and coaches.

Still out of action at yesterday's practice session at the Lake Forest Training Camp, were ends Lee Sugar and Max Boydston and coaches Charlie Trippi and Tom Keene.

The team epidemic reached its peak in Miami, Fla., Friday when a majority of the 54 players were ill.

Dr. Ralph O'Halloran, team physician who diagnosed the disease as Asiatic flu, said it apparently had run its course.

Williams-Mantle Bat Battle Overshadows Pennant Race

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The spectacular battle between Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees for the American League batting title overshadowed the pennant races today.

The Yankees stretched their American League lead to 7½ games after a double-header sweep over Baltimore yesterday and Milwaukee's National League leaders held to an imposing 6½-game edge despite two losses to St. Louis. But the baseball spotlight centered around the duel between Williams and Mantle.

Mantle had three hits in seven times at bat as the Yankees defeated Baltimore 7-0 and 3-2. He boosted his average to .385. Williams had one hit in four times at bat as Washington defeated Boston 6-4. His league-leading average dipped a point to .392.

With a little over a month of the season remaining, the chances of one or both finishing with .400 are far brighter than they were a month ago when both were hitting about 30 points below their current mark. Not since 1941, when Williams batted .406, has any major leaguer achieved the magic .400.

In Memoriam
In memory of my beloved mother, Mrs. E. F. Shriver, who died 3 years ago, August 19, 1954.
There are many whose beauty will be missed, but she is forever sweetest of mine.
Other hands may be whiter but none other so dear.
For they smoothed my pillow for many a year.
Oh, how I miss her sweet voice and her smile.
Yet I hope I shall see her again after awhile.
Sometimes in the darkness a sweet face so fair,
Smiles down from Heaven for mother is there.
Son, G. L. Shriver, Sr. & Family

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, August 20, 1957:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Mixed vibrations should make this a challenging day, yet it may be anoreing in spots. Fine rays for artistic matters and mental work; influences less generous for purely practical affairs.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Your natal planet and some others augur for success through your own efforts, but Saturn and Mercury positions stress a need for caution in written matters, signing contracts, etc.; also in difficult tasks.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — A challenging set-up for you bright, active people. Remain alert to good possibilities — and there are many today. Avoid carelessness in signing documents, however. Think through.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Move thoughtfully but cheerfully and hopefully. You can accomplish much now through your own ingenuity and cleverness. Don't lose heart at upsets; they could work to your eventual good.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — Some rays are promising and benefic; others are less generous. You can have a satisfactory day by using common sense and managing cleverly. Be sensible, don't overdo.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — Mercury and Mars, in inauspicious positions, urge extra care and patience in any trying and hectic situations which may occur. There are some good influences, however, so take things in stride.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Familiar matters, laborious work for which you are trained, dealing in leather, lumber and metals, as well as the uses to which they are put, are under good aspects. Care is urged in written matters, however.

OCTOBER 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Good aspects for substantial matters, activities concerned with the arts, decorating, gardening, etc.; dealings with those in authority; seeking advancement and favors. All in all, a good day.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Be careful if taking on added responsibilities, and in legal affairs. Know exactly what you are signing. They can be delightful for home, family, artistic interests. Be enthusiastic, helpful, but don't overdo.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Aspects for independent friends, some new prosperity indicated. The Sun and Moon, both auspicious, promote fresh interest in family, business affairs. Saturn's aspect, however, urges caution in all matters.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Your day begins a very good week. Aspects for tomorrow will be especially generous. Take time now to plan and arrange a good schedule for the balance of the week. It will prove profitable.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — Good influences are at work for your advancement, also some restrictive ones. Be careful in important or difficult situation. You should find artistic skill at your command, however.

YOU BORN TODAY have an engaging personality; are daring, brave in nature, but sometimes careless of results. You are naturally kind, generous and willing to help others along the road to success, but may also be too demanding and exacting at times. Keep the "Golden Rule" ever in mind. Study, improve your talents and abilities all you can. Birthdate: Benj. Harrison, 21st U. S. Pres.

GWENDOLYN GAGA, THE MOVIE QUEEN, HAD THIS TO SAY TO THE FAN MAGS ABOUT HER CAREER...

Character Education Goal Of Publisher

NEW YORK—(INS)—A Southwestern publisher is trying to add something to grade school's "three r's"—character education.

Col. Clyde E. Palmer, Texas and Arkansas newspaper publisher, is sponsoring a series of "golden rule readers" to "foster and promote principles of morality through the public schools."

Readers for first, second and third graders are being issued this summer. According to Palmer, books for fourth through sixth graders published in January, 1956 were so successful that he and his wife were encouraged to try readers for younger school children.

Called "Open Windows," "Open Doors" and "Open Roads," the primers try to teach youngsters such character traits as fairness, kindness and responsibility while they're still mastering the alphabet.

How is it done? Take a story for first-graders:

Young George hauls out a box of toys so he can make friends at a party. But when the kids at the party play with the toys and not with George, his mother tells him he forgot something.

"What is it that I forgot?" asks George.

"Your smile!" says his mother.

The series is written and edited under the direction of Dr. Ullin W. Leavell, Professor of Education and Director of the McGuffey Reading Clinic at the University of Virginia.

A grant from the Palmer Foundation set up a three-year research program to select character traits and appropriate language for the books. Readers for seventh and eighth graders are being prepared.

South Doubts East Signals

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North and South each bid their full values or maybe a trifle more but a look at their cards would show that the slam contract was a proper one.

West opened a trump and South won in his own hand. He noted that a favorable break in hearts or clubs would give him his contract but South was a pessimist and decided on a play that would give him a slight additional chance.

He led a club to the ace, trumped a club in his own hand and led a trump to dummy's queen. He got his first bad news when East showed out.

The jack of hearts was cashed to pull West's last trump and the king of clubs was played. The bad club break showed up then and South was in trouble.

He ruffed a club to establish the last two in dummy and led a spade.

West won with the ace and East signaled desperately in an effort to convince declarer that he held the queen of spades. West promptly led a low spade. A diamond lead was obvious suicide and maybe East did hold the jack of spades.

South might have ruffed in dummy and cashed the last two clubs. If East held both the queen of spades and king of diamonds he would be in a squeeze.

South considered that play briefly and decided it was much better to play West for the queen of spades. South simply discarded the ten of diamonds from dummy and made the contract.

You, South, hold:

What do you do?

A—Bid four hearts. You have such a good fit for hearts that you must rebid your minimum double since your partner has shown strength.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You hold the same hand. Your partner responds to your double by a bid of two spades. You bid three diamonds and your partner bids three hearts. What do you do?

Man Will Try To Learn How To Fly In Day

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — A radio station employee will find out Aug. 26 whether it's possible to learn to fly a plane in only one day.

Chuck Dulane, 33-year-old program director of Radio Station WGAY, will try to crowd his flight instruction and his first solo flight into a single day, the station announced today.

Promotion Director John Cooley said the purpose of the stunt is to dramatize the practicability of private flying and the need for a new airport to serve the growing interest in private and commercial aviation in Montgomery County.

Dulane will make his attempt at Congressional airport in Rockville beginning at 7:30 a.m.

His instructor will be Millard McChesney. The lessons will be given in a new single-engine Champion.

What's in a name, after all? Nothing or Everything? It might be a matter of life or death where drugs are concerned. For example, MercurOUS chloride is ordinary calomel, a laxative when used medicinally. MercurIC chloride is a violent poison, better known as Bichloride of Mercury. To an untrained person it would be very easy to make a mistake between the two, but to the pharmacist at Walsh-McCagh caution is second nature. This is just one example of a similarity in drug names, but a great disparity in drug usage. Certainly anyone can count out a few pills or pour into a bottle, but it's knowledge behind these actions that makes the difference where drug dispensing is concerned.
